YANKS FIRE ON SLAVS

Use Machine Gun to Halt Tito Troops Near Trieste

STORY ON PAGE 2

U. S. Gunfire Halts Tito Trieste Grab

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

TRIESTE, Sept. 16 (AP).—A bloodless frontier clash between American forces and Mar shal Tito's Yugloslav troops marked the birth of Trieste as a free territory today .The Allied Military Government announced that a Yugoslav detachment was blocked by a warning burst of machinegun fire and the movement of an armor-supported U. S. Infantry battalion up from reserve when the Yugoslavs sought to cross the border into the Free Territory at an outppost held by 12 U. S. soldiers. The incident followed a night in which Yugoslavia jumped the gun on the Allied-Yugoslav time table for her occupation of lands won under the Italian peace treaty and forced troop movements in the Morgan Line zone by night instead of after dawn, as planned. There was Italian and Slav rioting in Trieste.

British-American military government headquarters said the Americans at Post No. 5, on a main road to Trieste, held their ground when a Yugoslav unit of 34 soldiers presented itself at the provisional, and disputed boundary and demanded permission to cross.

The Yugoslavs called up reinforcements in full battle formation, Immediately a battalion of U. S. infantry was sent up from a reserve position with its full complement of armor and artillery.

COMPLIMENTS U. S. TROOPS

Maj. Gen. T. S. Airey, British commander in Trieste, said the Yugoslavs indicated then they would abide by the decision of the British-American command and would refer the matter to a diplomatic level.

"Owing to the extraordinary good sense and tactful handling by the American troops," Airey said, "an incident was prevented." He added that the affair might have led "to bloodshed and a breach of the articles of the peace treaty."

The AMG said the machinegun incident occurred on the road between Boriano and Prosoco.

The Yugoslavs argued that they interpreted the peace treaty as authorizing Yugoslav troops to enter the Free State up to a maximum of 5000 men.

The American officer in charge of the post, the AMG said, replied that he would consult his superiors. When the Yugoslavs insisted on crossing he summoned the tank and also called for local reserves.

WALTHAM MAN PRESENT

One of the first U. S. officers to contact the Yugoslavs was Lt. Joseph F. McDevitt of Waltham, Mass.

Italy is losing some 3000 square miles of territory which she had held since a few years after World War I, by terms of a treaty with the victors of World War II ratified formally in Paris yesterday. Some 470 square miles went to the Free Territory under the UN, the rest to Yugoslavia.

(The peace treaties for four other Axis satellites — Romania, Bulgaria, Finland and Hungary— were activated yesterday by deposit of ratification instruments in the Kremlin, in Moscow.

Strikes Mount in Italy As War Officially Ends

ROME, Sept. 16 (AP)—Spreading strikes that menaced her already shaky economy marked Italy's return to sovereignty today under the Allied Peace treaty.

Rome newspapers declared the treaty infamous and a "dictate."

Adding their weight to a nine-day strike of more than 1,000,000 farm workers in the north, 850,000 metal workers began a 49-hour walkout, protesting the high cost of living and demanding more pay. The farm workers seek an eight-hour day, increased pay and othter concessions.

In Rome a one-hour strike to proteest high prices was called in offices of railroads ad bus lines. In Palermo, Sicily, transport workers struck for higher pay.

United States diplomats here meanwhile expressed belief that misery rather than Communism, was the real force to be reckoned with in Italy and that the next seven months would test Italy's resistance to Communism.

FOILS DEATH—A narrow escape from death was experienced by British screen actress Ann Todd (above) when her automobile was struck and demolished by a truck in London.

ALL THE FIXINGS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—The American freighter Hawaiian Fisherman sailed from the port of Philadelphia with what its crew called a "whoopee cargo."

The shipment included 55 pianos, 250 cases of bourbon whisky, 2000 cases of canned beer and 20 cartons of cigars.

The consignment was for Honolulu.

MAY-DECEMBER BRIDAL TODAY—Mrs. Christine McDonald, 62-year-old widow and grandmother, of Brixton, Eng., and her fiance, John Evans, 21, who wed today. They have been sweethearts for two years. Mrs. McDonald has two daughters and five grandchildren.

Immediate Call of Congress Urged at Price Probe Here

Ten proposals, topped by a demand for an immediate special session of Congress to take action to halt skyrocketing prices, were presented by Mrs. Hazel Sagoff, of the National Ass'n of Consumers, to a congressional subcommittee today at the opening of a three-day hearing on the high cst of living. Mrs. Sagoff, head of the Boston chapter of her association, was the first speaker after the session was opened by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders, of Vermont, chairman of the committee which i sholding hearings throughout the East on the spiraling costs of food and other essential commodities.

The 15th floor courtroom in the Federal Building was packed to its capacity with representatives of consumers, retailers, wholesalers and industry representatives listed as speakers.

In addition, there was a goodly sprinkling of spectators, who admitted they represented no organization except the average citizen. They were not listed as speakers and, as one expressed it before the hearing, they were "just those who were supposed to eat less."

Opening the three-day session, Chairman Flanders explained that first session in Providence yesterday and will sit in Manchester, N. H., Friday, was concerned primarily with price increases which were affecting living costs of the avereag person.

FLANDERS OUTLINES PLAN

"Right now we are not interested in rents," he said. "Not that they are unimportant, but two other congressional committes are now investigating the rental and housing situation.

"In these hearings we will start with representatives of the consumers and we will work back through the retailers and wholesalers and growers and see where we can run into something which needs direction and control."

Mrs. Sagoff read from a five-page statement which embraced her 10 suggestions to the committee. They were:

1—Call an immediate special session of Congress and declare a moratorium on price increases pending congressional action.

2—Re-impose excess profits taxes.

3—Regulate exports of food and other essential commodities.

4—Roll back prices of essential foods and make up differences by returning some subsidies.

5—Review farm parity prices, lowering high support of prices of agricultural commodities, cotton and wool.

6—Remove taxes and restrictive legislation on oleomargarine.

7—Eliminate minimum retail price fixing of milk.

8—Keep remaining controls on consumer credit, scheduled to be lifted Nov. 1.

9—Start publicity campaign to halt wasting of food.

10—Establish a federal department in Washington to handle consumer problems.

Kathleen T. Ryan, representing a group of business and professional women which described themselves as "Just Plain Citizens," was the second speaker.

Other speakers listed for today were Irving Rabb, of Stop and Shop, Inc.; Norman J. Randell, of Newburyport, executive secretary of the Northeast Essex Development Council; Chester Smith, an economist representing the United Farmers Cooperative; Malcolm McCabe, executive secretary of the Mass. Retail Grocers Ass'n.; William C. Welden, of H. P. Hood and Sons Co., and Stephen Mugar, of the Star Market co.

To be heard tomorrow: Fred Steele, executive secretary, New Bedford Cotton Mfrs. Ass'n; Edward Presbrey, president, Kennedy's, Inc.; Cameron S. Thompson, vice-president, Jordan Marsh Co.; Carl N. Schmalz, R. H. Stearns Co.; John S. Perkins, Filene's Sons Co.; Harold A. Bishop, J. H. Wheelock Co.; Bradford Keith, Walker Top Co.; Henry M. Bliss, president, Pacific Mills.

BLAME PRODUCERS

To testify Thursday: John Reed Keith, George E. Keith Co; Maxwell Field, vice-president, Shoe and Leather Ass'n; Ernest C. Howes, board chairman, Howes Leather Co.; Charles James, Jr., chairman, Associated Shoe Industries of Southeastern Mass.; Dinsmore Worthing, Boston Grain and Flour Exchange; Albert Clifton, legislative agent, Massachusetts State CIO; Seymour Harris, Boston Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action.

The committee arrived here after conducting a hearing in Providence, at which wholesalers and retailers satisfied the investigators they were not responsible for the pyramiding prices and placed the blame on producers.

Chairman Flanders in a brief appearance at the fall meeting of the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants at Hotel Touraine, on the eve of today's hearing, disclosed his special committee had called for the court records of Atty. Gen. Clarence A. Barnes' prosecution of

Hurricane Hovering 250 Mi. Off Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Northeast storm warnings were ordered raised from West Palm Beach, Fla., to Cape Hatteras, N. C., today as a massive tropical hurricane churned the sea about 250 miles east of West Palm Beach.

The Weather Bureau in a 9:15 a. m. advisory said the vast storm, with winds of more than 140 miles an hour, had remained nearly at a standstill during the night with the center now near latitude 26.7 north longitude 76.2 west.

"It is apparently moving northwestward about five miles an hour which may indicate that it is changing its course," the advisory stated.

The area of storm winds has expended and now covers an area of about 400 miles in diameter, fairly distributed about the center.

The weather bureau said the intensity remained "very severe."

"Winds will become strong on the middle East Florida Coast today with hurricane winds some distance off shore and if the storm is curving northward storm winds will extend northward along the coast tonight and Wednesday," the advisory stated.

STORM AT CROSSROADS

Chief Forecaster Grady Norton described the six-day old hurricane as being "at the crossroads."

Its slowed down speed—it traveled on its west northwest course only about 20 miles in the last eight hours—indicated that the storm was developing a re-curvature movement, he said.

It could curve northward and head out into the Atlantic to spend its gigantic force harmlessly, or it could turn west and head for the mainland.

Norton said that its slowed down forward pace tended to spread the storm; that its hurricane force winds were now covering an area 150 miles from the center and that the gale winds were spreading to 200 to 250 miles from the core.

"Any further movement toward the coast will mean that we will have to issue warnings," the forecaster said. "Even if it stands still and continues to spread, it may be necessary to order warnings displayed."

FORECASTERS WORRIED

Norton concedede that the federal forecasters were "sweating blood" over this particular hurricane.

He said that by all known rules of hurricane action, this storm should have turned north and out to sea long ago.

"We're working around the clock. I haven't wanted to issue a hurricane warning and cause unnecessary alarm, but at the same time we want to stay on the safe side. This one has us scratching our heads."

"We'll simply have to wait and see what the storm decided to do. And hope that if it turns, it turns to the north," he added.

Norton reported that Hopetown, Abaco Island in the Northern Bahamas group, was being hit by hurricane force winds this morning. He placed the center of the storm about 50 miles northeast of Abaco Island.

HIGH SEAS EXPECTED

At 5:15 a. m. (EST) the hurricane was pinpointed near latitude 26.9 north longitude 75.9 west or about 250 miles east of West Palm Beach.

High seas and increasing winds along the Atlantic seaboard from West Palm Beach to Cape Hatteras, N. C., were expected today, the Weather Bureau said.

Although no hurricane warnings have yet been ordered displayed, an alert for the 750-mile stretch of coastline from Vero Beach, Fla., to Cape Hatteras was sounded yesterday. Norton said on issuing the alert he did not wish to cause alarm, but merely alert residents

LEAVE OFF VEST

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Board of Trade said today Britons would get 20 new clothing coupons Oct. 1 for the next five months.

The new allocation is not quite enough for a suit of clothes. It takes 26 coupons for a man's suit, seven for shoes or a shirt and seven to 18 for a woman's dress, depending on style and fabric.

It is the first allocation since last March. Then 32 coupons were issued to last six months but later were extended to cover eight months, or until Nov. 1, because of the fuel crisis.

Dancer Prays On Eve of Murder Trial

By JAMES RUSSELL
Int'l News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Sept. 16 (INS)—Patricia Schmidt, petite Oriental-style dancer, charged with the murder of Chicago Atty. John Lester Mee, observed her 22d birthday today by praying that a five-man Cuban court will set her free in the trial which begins Wednesday.

The raven-haired Toledo, Ohio, nightclub performer, somber-faced and somewhat haggard after a six-month stay in drab Guanabacoa prison on Havana's outskirts, declared on the eve of her trial:

"My attorney, Rene Castellanos, is thoroughly familiar with my case, and I've placed my faith in him and in the Grace of the Lord.

"I have done nothing wrong.

"John Mee deserved to die."

Whether or not she did wrong in admittedly firing a .22-caliber slug into John Mee's neck on April 8 on his yacht in Havana harbor will be decided by a full Cuban court of five judges.

As the date of the trial came into view, Defense Atty. Castellanos indicated that he would base his plea on an accidental shooting, claiming that Patricia fired as Mee lifted a sword and moved menacingly toward her in the yacht's after-cabin.

The sword is a new item that suddenly has been thrust into the surprise-filled case.

It belonged to Patricia and was used during some of her more violent Oriental dances, the defense claims.

On trial with the exotic dancer will be Charles Jackson, 27, Purdue-educated chemical engineer from River Forest, Ill., who was on the craft when the shooting occurred. He first posed as Patricia's lover in an effort to protect his friend Mee, who was already married.

The prosecution will demand a 30-year sentence for the Ohio girl and a six-year term for Jackson for concealing information.

BRITAIN TO ASK LOAN

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—A government source said today Britain soon might ask the International Bank for a $320,000,000 loan designed partly to ease her economic crisis.

3d Woonsocket Victim Dies In Family Shooting, Suicide

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 16—Mrs. Olinda Marcotte, 45, died at Woonsocket Hospital today, victim of her estranged husband, Jean, 48, who also killed an adopted son, Andre, 16, and then took his own life.

She succumbed to a bullet wound despite a 20-hour battle of doctors to save her life.

Jean, a carpenter, walked into the Mill st. home of the victim's sister, Mrs. Flora Belleville, brandishing a .32-calibre revolver and accusing members of the family of trying to "put him away for heavy drinking."

Backing away, he pointed the gun at his wife, crying out, "Don't be afraid. It's only loaded with firecrackers." He fired one shot which lodged in her back and then turned the gun on young Andre, hitting him in the head, before he took his own life with a bullet through the brain.

Witnesses to the tragedy were two 12-year-old girls, Jocelyn Belleville and her chum, Susanne Thibodeau. Both girls escaped injury by running to a bedroom and hiding under a bed.

IF YOUR CAR HUMS IN A DUET, GET OVER!

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 16 (AP)—If you're humming along a New Jersey highway, and your hum echoes back, move over, chum, you're driving out of the lane.

The state highway department today disclosed the "humming" which motorists have reported hearing along teh new section of route 6 in Totowa is an audible warning resulting from suction of tires when they run over the special lane separators.

The separators are 24-inch-wide strips of white cement with scored surfaces—slight elevations and depressions. They were designed to keep drivers alert and within traffic lanes.

Highway engineers, the department added, are now "toying with the idea to have the depressions so spaced they will sing out 'Get Over!'"

Truman Sports Fancy Headgear

ABOARD U. S. S. MISSOURI, Sept. 16 (AP)—President Truman gave free rein today to his fondness for changing headgear as this homeward-bound battlewagon sailed 1000 miles east of Miami, Fla.

The Chief Executive, who has appeared during this voyage wearing an eight star officers' cap and buff colored campaign headgear, donned a brown checkered cap fashioned like those worn by harness racers. He said he'd owned it a long time and even Mrs. Truman didn't know he had it.

After witnessing five furiously fought boxing matches, Mr. Truman planned today to watch a firing demonstration of the Missouri's 40 millimeter guns. Yesterday five salvos were fired by 16 inch guns.

Soviet-U. S. Row on Greece Dims UN Assembly Opening

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—An angry dispute between the U. S. and Russia over Greece clouded the opening of the UN assembly today. Diplomats agreed a long and stormy session is in prospect.

Two Russian vetoes were registered in the Security Council on the eve of the assembly meeting. They ran the Soviet string of such votes to a total of 20 but they failed, finally, to prevent the U. S. from getting the Greek case taken out of the council's hands and thereby cleared for positive action by the assembly, where there are no vetoes.

The 55-nation assembly's first organizational task was election of a president.

Most prominently mentioned for the post were premier Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium and Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt of Australia.

Some of the world's best known leaders, including Foreign Minister Bidault, were on hand for debates which may mark a critical point in the world's quest for organized peace.

Others, notably Foreign Sec. Bevin of Britain and former Minister Molotov of Russia, were absent at the outset but possibly may show up later.

The dispute which overshadowed the opening formalities of the assembly, was churned up in a 5½ hour meeting of the UN security council last night when the U. S. sought, over strenous Soviet objection, to break the Greek case out of the council so the assembly could have a try at solving it.

The Russian vetoes forced the U. S. to give up its plan to have the council continue its watchdog commission in Greece temporarily. But by paying that price, the U. S., backed by a 9 to 2 majority, got the case out of the council entirely.

The partial American victory cleared the way for the assembly not only to discuss the Greek-Balkans situation, which it could have done in any case, but also to make recommendations for its solution. Such recommendations would have been out of order if the case had remained before the security council.

The Soviet Union was reported prepared to make another pass at keeping it out of the assembly, however, for it had already served notice that it considered the assembly could save time by striking the case off its provisional agenda.

The issue thus was due to rise again almost at once, but next time in the general assembly's steering committee which was tenatively scheduled to meet late today following the assembly's second meeting. The committee is charged with reviewing the agenda, recommending to the assembly any changes in it and assigning its 62 items among various working committees.

The Soviet-American row over Greece is probably the most bitterly controversial of the 62 items because it involves directly American interests in Greece and Soviet interests in the neighboring countries of Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria, which the U. S. has accused of aiding Greek Communist forces fighting the Athens government.

Kenny Warns U. S. Of Peril From Air

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 (AP)—Gen. George C. Kenney said today "potential enemies" of the United States have aircraft which can carry to this country "known weapons of mass destruction more deadly and far cheaper than the atomic bomb."

If there is another war, the head of the Strategic Air Command declared, "we will be lucky to have eight hours warning of a blitzkreig blow designed to knock us out in a few days."

"Only if we maintain the technical lead in aviation can we have the number one air force. If we don't have the number one air force we might just as well have none," Kenney told the first national convention of the Air Force Ass'n.

Saltonstall Won't Run for President

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 16—Sen. Saltonstall keenly is watching the field of aspirants for the Republican nomination for President, but not as a means of sizing them up as possible personal opponents—he is not a candidate for the job.

This he declared in unmistakable words here as an honored guest of the 26th annual Eastern States Exposition.

It was not a case of President Coolidge's "I do not choose . . ." The Senator and former Bay State Governor told reporters flatly that he is not a candidate for any other job in 1948 other than U. S. Senator adn that his one ambition is to be "the best senior senator that Massachusetts ever had."

Sen. Saltonstall listed those candidates which in his opinion are the leading six, and in this order: Gov. Dewey of New York, Gov. Warren of California, Sen. Taft of Ohio, former Gov. Stassen of Minnesota, Gen. Eisenhower and House Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts.

"Personally, I am a good friend of all the men who are known to be running. I hope we put up the best man possible," the senator told reporters.

"I am not committed to any of them. As far as I know the Massachusetts delegation is unpledged and I am looking them all over."

Testifies He Stole Blood to Aid Child

If Max "Frenchy" Theriot, 39-year-old seaman of the sugar freighter SS Peter Helm, can only find that man with the heartbreak story he met in a bar, he may win freedom from the charge of being a blood bank thief.

Theriot was held in $500 by Judge Leo H. Leary of South Boston court today after pleading not guilty to the theft of seven vials of plasma from his ship's blood bank.

Harold Palmer, port captain for the ship's New Jersey owners, Pope & Talbot, told the court an inventory and investigation led to Theriot's arrest. When the seaman was brought into the master's cabin and accused, related Palmer, he professed humanitarian motives.

Palmer quoted the sailor as saying he had met a saddened man in a barroom, a man whose child was hospitalized and sorely in need of blood transfusions, so he went to the hospital with the father and offered his blood.

It was of the wrong type. The sailor inquired as to the correct type and took the vials, valued at $175, from the ship's blood bank.

Judge Leary continued the case to Friday and said he wanted to hear from the father in the case, adding that if Theriot was found to have acted from a charitable motive it would have considerable differnce in the court's attitude.

A company spokesman told the court the charge would be dropped if the Friday session substantiated the theft-for-chartiy story.

Aged Sisters Near Death Amid Junk

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (AP)—Two aged and enfeebled sisters, forcibly removed by police from their junk-littered apartment in the residential Squirrel Hill section, were reported in serious condition from malnutrition today.

For 10 days the once-prosperous seamstresses, Frances Bittner, 89, and Molly Bittner, 91, had proudly shunned offers of kindly neighbors to feed and aid them.

One sister was found entirely helpless, the other barely able to move. Neither weighed more than 65 pounds.

During the last three years their apartment gradually filled with an accumulation of newspapers, cans, junk, and odds and ends reminiscent of the Langley Collyer case in New York.

"They were too proud to ask for help," said the sisters' attorney.

Death of Roxbury Man Laid to Blow

The death of Harry Bialsky, 43, Intervale st., Roxbury, in City Hospital today brought his widow, Mrs. Mary Bialsky, 43, to police headquarters with the information that her husband had fallen six feet to the ground from their first floor porch after he had been struck by a man whose identity was not disclosed.

The man was immediately picked up for questioning. Mrs. Bialsky said the incident occurred Saturday and her husband was rushed to the hospital where he was found to have suffered internal injuries that proved fatal.

Beulah Tells Jury Of Parents' Death In Yacht Explosion

SANTA ANA, Cal., Sept. 16—Louise Overell's story of the death of her parents unfolded today to a jury trying her and her lover, George (Bud) Gollum, on charges of murdering Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell.

The buxom, blonde heiress to her parents' $500,000 estate seemed as placid and calm as any spectator in the courtroom as she took the witness stand yesterday afternoon and began testimony which the defense hopes will refute some of the salient points of prosecution witnesses.

Emphatically she denied the testimony of her uncle, Emmanuel Jungquist, that shortly after her parents' death March 15 she told him she was taking immediate charge of her father's Washington finance company and intended to install Gollum as president. Jungquist, head of a Los Angeles steel company, had been called as a prosecution witness.

CONTINUE BUSINESS

"I explained to Uncle Manny that I wanted to continue father's business because I believed my parents would wish me to do so," she related to the jury. "I told him Bud would finish his schooling, that we planned to be married on my 18th birthday last April 30 and that eventually Bud would be able to help me with the business."

Louise had an explanation for the disarray which prosecution witnesses told of seeing in the big Overell mansion in suburban Flintridge a few days after a dynamite blast blew up the Overell yacht with Louise's parents aboard.

She testified that she dumped furniture from a bedroom into the master bedroom, not because she and Bud were occupying the same quarters but because she was making a place for his sister, Wilafred Gollum, who had come to Flintridge to live.

MOTHER ENCOURAGED

Throughout her testimony the young woman threaded statements of how her mother suggested she write to Bud while he was serving with the Navy in the Philippines; how her mother invited Bud to dine at the Overell residence; how her mother and father approved of Bud as a suitor and as a prospective husband.

Louise's story of her romance pictured her meeting Bud when she was six years of age; beginning active correspondence with him in 1945 and having two and three dates a week after his discharge from the service last year. She told of gay parties at the Overell home, dancing and dining at exclusive yacht clubs, theater dates and long days together aboard her parents' yacht off the Southern California coast.

Last Christmas, Louise testified, she displayed a diamond engagement ring to friends and relatives. She said her parents had seen it when Bud gave it to her some time before. This testimony was in answer to the state's claim that the Overells violently opposed the girl's marriage and had threatened to disinherit her.

Woman's Charge of Assault Against Doctor Goes to Jury

After final arguments and a judge's charge, a Norfolk Superior Court jury today was to decide the case against Dr. Patrick C. Ferrara of Walnut st., Stoughton, charged with assault and battery on Mrs. Frances Danahy, 28, of Canton—charges the doctor claims were inspired after an attempt to extort $10,000 had failed.

In his own defense, Dr. Ferrara told Judge Jonn P. Higgins and the jury that Mrs. Danahy and her husband, Robert, a Canton druggist, had tried to extort $10,000 from him under a threat of ruining the doctor's name.

Earlier, Mrs. Danahy, mother of a 19-month-old child, testified Dr. Ferrara had lured her into the woods in Avon last April and blacked her eyes and given her a nosebleed. She admited she had seen the doctor "quite often" since 1943, mostly when her husband was in the armed services.

In his testimony, Dr. Ferrara said he met her first when she was a patient, and after that she used to visit his home.

AGREED TO MEETING

According to his story, he was driving through Stoughton last April 14 when she tooted her automobile horn at him and he stopped. As a result of their talk and three phone calls she made that afternoon, he said, he met her at 3:30 p. m. in Central ave., Avon, but when she said that spot was too open, he led the way into a woods road.

She stopped her car and came over to his and got in, Dr. Ferrara said, and asked him: "How's business?" When he replied, "Pretty good," she said, according to his testimony, "It better be good; I want $10,000."

He told her, Dr. Ferrara said, that he didn't have that much money, at which she exclaimed angrily, "I'll get it. You wait and see." Then she jumped out, got into her machine and drove off.

The witness said at 6:30 that night Mr. and Mrs. Danahy visited his home and she said to the physician, "I don't care about my reputation but I'll ruin your name." She accused him of being the father of her baby, the doctor declared, and again demanded money.

CLAIMS SMEAR THREAT

Then the husband, according to the witness, broke in with a demand for $10,000 which he said was for "the beating you gave my wife." Later, in the presence of police, Dr. Ferrara asserted, she admitted having tried to obtain money from him.

The doctor's wife testified that she was home the evening of April 14 and heard Danahy demand $10,000 and heard Mrs. Danahy threaten to smear the doctor's name "all over the newspapers."

Mrs. Danahy, first witness in the case, testified that it was the doctor who made the overtures on April 14, asking her to phone him that afternoon; that she telephoned and "agreed to meet him at 3:30 on an Avon woods road."

When they halted in the road and she got into his car, the druggist's wife asserted, Dr. Ferrara "asked me why I had not telephoned him before and there was an argument. He struck me in the eye."

Parents to Aid Man Held in Cape Jealousy Slaying

WEST YARMOUTH, Sept. 16—While funeral services for the slain Priscilla Roderick Cottle were being held at Hyannis today, with requiem mass in St. Francis Xavier Church and burial at Provincetown, Boston parents of Gerard Cottle, 28, husband of the victim, rallied to his aid at the Barnstable County jail.

Cottle is being held without bail for hearing Sept. 26 on a first degree murder charge.

Following his arraignment before Judge Paul M. Swift in Barnstable District Court, where he pleaded innocent to the murder charge, his parents visited him at the jail to assure him they would stand by him in his fight for life.

His father, George Cottle, 56, of Shawmut ave., Boston, afterward stated:

"We're standing by our boy through all of this terrible thing. We intend to do all that we can for him and are retaining a very good lawyer to defend him."

According to Sheriff Donald P. Tulloch and state and local police officals, the young husband confessed he pounded the head of his wife with a rock and iron pinch bar after she had alighted from another man's car

Seniority Voted In Rubber Union

Jobs of all international representatives of the CIO United Rubber Workers Union were in jeopardy today after 600 delegates here had voted at a Hotel Bradford convention to place such selections on a seniority basis.

L. S. Buckmaster, president of the organization, urged the 220,000 members to get behind the Taft-Hartley Law and then seek the backing of the American people in defeating it if it bogs down.

Another speaker, Joseph A. Salerno, Massachusetts CIO president, urged delegates to bring about the defeat of all members of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley legislation.

Hub Constitution Day Fete To Begin on Namesake Ship

Boston will join the nation tomorrow in observing the birthday of the Constitution, the document embodying the principles on which America was founded and was enabled to grow into the world's greatest homeland of human freedom and liberty.

Schools, civic and veteran organizations, city and state will join hands to honor those far-seeing patriots who wrote the document 160 years ago to insure the freedom so dearly won in the Revolutionary War.

The exercises will be officially opened tomorrow morning when the flag is raised aboard the U. S. Frigate Constitution at Charlestown Navy Yard.

OPEN HOUSE ON SHIP

Following the flag raising, open house will be held aboard the Constitution all day.

Throughout the day, Boston's 132,000 pupils in 350 public and parochial schools will observe the anniversary with pageant, song and story. Public school exercises, sponsored by the school committee, will be directed by Supt. Arthur L. Gould, while parochial school exercises will be conducted under the general supervision of Rev. Cornelius T. H. Sherlock, diocesan director of the schools.

Movies, depicting the memorable days when the Constitution was conceived and drafted will be shown at school assemblies.

Veterans' organizations will pay their tribute in the afternoon with a radio broadcast from 3:35 to 3:45 over station WEEI.

ARMY AIR SHOW

During the day, formations of Army planes will demonstrate over the Common where at night, from 8 to 10 p. m. the city's observance will be brought to a fitting close, with band music, speeches and fireworks. In the event of rain, the night exercises will be put over until Thursday.

The singing of "God Bless America" by Miss Marion Mulhall, noted Boston soprano, will open the exercises at Parkman bandstand. Interposed between band numbers will be addresses by Rear Adm. Morton L. Deyo, commandant of the First Naval District and Maj. Gen. Frank Keating, commanding officer of the First Service Command.

Mayor Hynes and Gov. Bradford will bear the greetings and the tributes from city and state. Following benediction and the mass chorus of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the assembled citizenry, a special fireworks display will be held on the Common playground.

Day-Old Twins Given New Blood

Day-old twin daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Elmer DeFazio of Hunnewell st., Needham Heights, had completely new blood today in the aftermath of treatment decided on when it was found that both had the deadly RH blood factor.

The twins, delivered by Caesarean operation, were taken from Glover Memorial Hospital, Needham, to Children's Hospital and within an hour had their blood drained and replaced with another type.

Medical authorities say the condition is caused by the presence of RH positive blood in the baby when the mother has RH negative blood.

The babies were reported to be in good condition. They weighed respectively five pounds, three ounces and four pounds, 11 ounces.

Dr. DeFazio is a Needham dentist. He and his wife are the parents of two other girls, Anna 11, and Sandra 7.

400 Pupils Saved In Roof Cave In

MIDVALE, Utah, Sept. 16 (AP)—The roof on the West Jordan junior high school collapsed less than five minutes after an alert teacher had noticed it sagging and sounded a fire drill alarm. Nearly 400 students marched to safety and were standing in the school yard when the roof fell in.

Sixty-five students were in the school auditorium for a music class when their teacher, Lowell Hicks, heard "a cracking noise" and ordered them outdoors in the belief an earthquake was beginning.

Hicks then sounded the fire alarm and the entire student body marched out in formation. Within five minutes the entire auditorium roof fell in.

Richard Tannous, Tip-Top's Master Baker, talks with Mrs. J. A. Ronder and Mrs. Frances Gambet, at Tip-Top Plant.

"HERE'S THE ANSWER, MRS. RONDER: Good bread starts with fine ingredients—the best flours, shortenings, milk, sugar, salt—plus the added B Vitamins and Food Iron that enrich the bread for better nutrition.

"Then it must be gently handled—like a cake in your own kitchen—so the texture is fine and soft. Finally, comes perfect baking.

"That's why Enriched Tip-Top is so delicious! Tip-Top is made from the finest ingredients . . . baked by our exclusive gentle-kneading process, like hand kneading . . . rushed oven-fresh to you. And Tip-Top is ENRICHED. It's good to eat, good for you."

Fresher! Rushed warm and fragrant from our ovens to you every day!

Better Flavor! The finest ingredients—like those you use in your own kitchen, plus perfect baking, make Tip-Top fairly melt in your mouth!

Better Texture! Tip-Top's exclusive gentle-kneading process (like hand kneading) gives finer texture!

Better Toast! Tip-Top's finer texture makes it toast an even golden-brown all over!

Better Sandwiches! . . . Tip-Top's finer texture makes it spread better. No crumbling . . . no big holes for spreads to drip through!

Rosh Hashonah Ends Tonight At Sundown

The two-day observance of Rosh Hashonah, ushering in the Jewish New Year of 5708 and the holy penitential season of Judaism, will end at sundown tonight, followed by a period of rejoicing to last until Oct. 7.

Temples and synagogues in Greater Boston were filled with the devout for the traditional services today.

Starting tomorrow, the days between the Jewish New Year and the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur—beginning at sundown next Tuesday and lasting until Wednesday night — special services for prayer and meditation will be held in various synagogues and temples.

For the faithful downtown special noontime services will be conducted in the chapel of the Associated Synagogues, 161 Devonshire st., opening tomorrow and continuing through next Monday. All the chapel services will start at 1 o'clock and tomorrow they will be presided over by Rabbi Joseph Shubow.

Three days after the close of Yom Kippur at sundown Sept. 24, the Feast of Tabernacles of Succoth will open.

Clubs Must Bar Gambling Devices

Cambridge Police Chief John R. King today issued "due warning" to all the city's veteran, fraternal, civic and other organizations to remove all gambling machinery from their premises or face the alternative of police raids.

King's move followed an announcement by City Mgr. John B. Atkinson yesterday that he had received at least a dozen complaining letters from women in one section of the city alone.

TRIBUTE TO GEN. LERCH

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 16 (AP)—Koreans and Americans paid final homage today to Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, late military governor of South Korea, who died of a heart attack.

Price Probe

Atlantic fishermen on charges of creating fish shortages to boost prices.

Flanders characterized practices which had resulted in raising the price of fish as "giving off a very fishy smell about Boston." He said that while in Boston the committee would also examine closely the milk situation as to prices. Other industries to be closely scrutinized were shoes, cotton and woolen textiles, he said.

"We're going to start in with the consumer, then work back through the retailer, the wholesaler and the producer," Flanders stated. "We don't expect to find any skullduggery, but undoubtedly we may find some improper decisions and poor judgment."

Sen. Flanders indicated that the committee would spend considerable time seeking to establish whether a free market for fish exists in Boston, and if not, the reason why.

He also hinted that the Supreme Court might be asked to again review cases where it was charged labor, as in the case of the fishermen, had been guilty of conspiring to violate the anti-laws.

Flanders, former president of the New England Council, said it seemed there were only three approaches to handling the current situation.

"The first," he explained, "would be to give up the ideal of full employment and depend on a body of constantly unemployed to regulate wages. The second would be to go back to government control of prices. The third would be to depend on the statesmanship of employer and employe to sit down and work out the problem. The situation is serious. I hope we will be shown the way out of it."

Sen. Pepper Predicts Recession, Hits G. O. P.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Sen. Pepper (D.) of Florida said today there is no hope for any effort to check rising living costs and "the American people might just as well get ready for another recession."

The Florida lawmaker told reporters the Republican-controlled Congress is to blame.

But Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine said that so far as food prices are concerned, they are high because the Truman Administration is shipping too much food to Europe and other areas.

Pepper scoffed at this, saying:

"We've got to help those people more, not less. If we want to stop Communism, we've got to make the capitalism of Europe work."

A reporter wanted to know whether Pepper considered the matter hopeless.

"That's right," he replied. "and the American people might just as well get ready for another recession."

Coast Guard Probing New Textbook as "Red"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Officials said today Coast Guard headquarters was investigating contentions that a textbook being considered for use at the Coast Guard Academy in New London, Ct., next term bears a "Communistic taint."

The name of the book was not given, but officials said it was a new work on economics. They added that the author was not connected with the academy.

Stork Club Host's Rise to Fame Told

Some 40 years ago the son of a man who left Kentucky to rush for land in Oklahoma Sherman Billingsley had to quit school after the fifth grade because his family was too poor. Today he is America's No. 1 night club owner.

How this fabulous character rose from a poor farmer's son to own New York's famous Stork Club will be told by Paul Gallico in "Host of the Stork Club," an entertaining success story to be published in next Sunday's American Weekly magazine distributed with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

In another outstanding American Weekly feature for next Sunday, Dr. Pierre Lecompte du Nouy, famous French scientist and author, will contribute to the popular "My Faith" series with a presentation of his credo on the interdependence of science and religion.

Doomed Girl, 4, Waits Early Yule

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 16 (AP)—Gifts, letters and messages were piling up today at the home of Carolyn Robb, 4, who wishes:

"Santa Claus would hurry up, because the doctor has been here so much."

Little Carolyn is incurably ill with cancer at the base of her brain. Her father, M. D. Robb, a railroad fireman, promised her an early Christmas party, complete with tree and presents, lest death prevent her from having one Dec. 25.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

UNLESS THE PRESIDENT calls a special session of Congress, the Marshall Plan, whatever it turns out to be, will have to wait until January or February for congressional debate and passage

Although nobody but the debaters at Paris know precisely what the Marshall Plan is about 100 members of Congress are in Europe trying to find out for themselves.

That is a new type of congressional hearing, but actually it will not save a day — for those Americans who favor or oppose whatever plan appears will wish to be heard. And they will be heard

It has been suggested that the American people are fully informed as to the Marshall Plan because Secretary Marshall delivered a speech at Harvard announcing it. What George Marshall said on that occasion was broad, general, ambiguous. I quote his exact words.

"Our policy is directed not against any country or doctrine but against hunger, poverty, desperation and chaos. Its purpose should be the revival of a working economy in the world so as to permit the emergence of political and social conditions in which free institutions can exist. Such assistance, I am convinced, must not be on a piecemeal basis as various crises develop. Any assistance that this government may render in the future should provide a cure rather than a mere palliative.

"Any government, that is willing to assist in the task of recovery will find full co-operation, I am sure, on the part of the United States Government. Any government which maneuvers to block the recovery of other countries cannot expect help from us. Furthermore, governments, political parties or groups which seek to perpetuate human misery in order to profit therefrom politically or otherwise will encounter the opposition of the United States."

THE MARSHALL PLAN has to do with dollars credited to "good" European countries, which help themselves and apparently are not Communist, as a subsidy. Obviously, Secretary Marshall at Harvard could not and did not specify the amount the terms, whether the money was to be a gift like the British, Greek and Turkish loans or a repayable loan. Congress will have to deal with specific appropriations and specific terms

From Paris come many reports rumors, hearsay and prophecy, but no facts. For a time, the preponderance of these straws in the wind indicated that the United States was to contribute $5,000,000,000 a year for four years, making a total of $20,000,000,000

Now the report is that the Europeans want $2,000,000,000 for 10 years, making a toal of $20,000,000,000. In other words if these reports from Paris be true either way, the Europeans wish us to give them an additional $20,000,000,000 over and above Lend-Lease, UNRRA, miltary feeding, the Britsh loan and the Greco-Turkish subsidies, to say nothing of what we have put into China, Japan, Korea, Saudi Arabia, and the Lord knows where else.

OF COURSE, we shall not actually ship dollars. To be shipped principally are goods, at a time of shortages, at high prices which make our prices higher. When Ernest Bevin suggested that the Fort Knox gold be redistributed, he was speaking in loose socialistic language, proposing a capital levy on the United States the way a capital levy was applied to the British people by nationalization

Actually, what he wanted was the produce of our efficient factories because his produce inefficiently

What comes of it is that the Marshall Plan is a procedure for getting $20,000,000,000 out of the United States in four, five or 10 annual installments as a "redistribution of wealth" among the nations of the world by applying a capital levy upon the United States

No matter how the argument is packaged, that is what it comes down to. Congress will be asked to do that to save Europe from the Communist menace just as we were asked to agree to Lend-Lease to save Europe from the Nazi menace, just as we were asked to agree to the Greco-Turkish subsidy to save the Mediterranean from the Russian menace

How many menaces are there? How much must we pay to keep these menaces from us? When shall we be free of them? Or are these "menaces" just another name for "emergencies?"

Mrs. Upton Close Denied Ouster

LOS ANGELES, Sept 16 (AP) - Writer-Commentator Upton Close was ordered to pay his wife Julia, $250 a month pending trial of their contested divorce suit, but the court decreed that he could continue to occupy part of the family home.

Mrs. Close sought unsuccessfully removal of his office from the top floor of the house

Over objections of Mrs. Close, Judge Fred Miller ruled that Close's secretary, Wilma Dean Henry, will be permitted to enter and leave her employer's offices sufficiently to perform her duties. The judge held, however, that she must not remain overnight.

Tucker '48

the first completely new car in 50 years

WEDNESDAY 1 P. M. TO 10 P. M.
THURSDAY THROUGH SATURDAY, 9 A. M. TO 10 P. M.

MECHANICS BUILDING
Huntington Avenue, Boston, Mass.

COMPLETELY NEW? Yes! For years you've seen cars gradually improved through annual model changes. But in this car you step into an entirely new automotive age . . . years and years ahead of conventional cars in performance, in economical operation, in safety, and—mark this—in value, too.

Tucker '48 has dozens of exciting engineering features, any one of which would be headline news in a normal year . . . features completely new, yet completely proved in fifteen years of rigid tests.

You'll See . . the first rear-engine car on American roads . . . the car that sets a new standard of value . . . bigger, better and more car for the money.

You'll See . . a car with no conventional clutch, transmission or differential . . . powered by a 150-horsepower rear engine that delivers power direct to the rear wheels through hydraulic torque converters.

You'll See . . completely new hydraulic disc brakes, 63% more effective than conventional brakes, and many exclusive safety features.

You'll See . . this revolutionary new car in all its beauty spotlighted on a revolving stage, graced with lovely fashion models.

You'll See . . a center headlight that turns with the wheels to light your way around corners . . . a spacious luggage compartment under the hood . . . and a car so roomy that four adults can sit comfortably in the front seat.

You'll See . . the Tucker Talking Chassis which tells the story of the many exclusive Tucker features and shows how Tucker engineers have eliminated 800 parts of the conventional car. And you'll see movies of the Tucker '48 being driven from the world's largest, most modern automotive plant where it will be made.

Georgia Prisoners Held Without Trial

SUMMERVILLE, Ga., Sept. 16 (AP)—More than 100 prisoners have been confined in Floyd County jail in Rome, Ga., some of them for many months, "with little or no hope of trial," Superior Judge Claude Porter disclosed.

Judge Porter said the situation was an "unprecedented outrage" and that it developed from a dispute between him and the county commissioners over court reporter fees.

Judge Porter said the commissioners had refused to pay $990 he authorized for a court reporter for the April court term and as a result he was unable to name a reporter for subsequent terms.

He added that Georgia law requires a reporter for trial of felony cases and the commissioners must honor his order for fees.

Assignment: America

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By KENNETH L. DIXON

Distributed by International News Service

It's hard to say where it may lead, but there's an uncanny hint of history repeating itself in the air of Boston these days.

Mostly, it seems to center around those congressional subcommittee hearings which get under way here today in the federal building. Headed by Vermont's Sen. Ralph Flanders, the subcommittee is seeking the causes of current high prices.

As the hearings start, skyrocketing living costs continue to shove the prices of basic necessities far beyond the reach of many a Boston citizen.

TAX TROUBLE

It's hardly the first time Bostonians have protested prices. More than 150 years ago, three British boats lay moored at Griffin's Wharf here, loaded with cargoes of tea. But on that tea, which was considered a household staple in those days, King George had placed a tax, and the Yankees didn't like taxation without representation.

One of the things you notice about the hearings here is that the people slated to appear before the subcommittee are not persons who have suffered severely from the high prices. That is to say, most of them are perfectly capable of paying whatever is necessary to keep alive even at today's terrific prices.

But they're speaking for a lot of people who can't . . . for instance, there's Mrs. Hazel Sagoff of the National Ass'n of Consumers, and Miss Kathleen Ryan of the Just-Plain-Citizens group, and Sidney Rabb, local merchant, and a good many Back Bay bluebloods of ample means who also want a word with the Congressmen.

TEA INTO SEA

(Curiously, on that December night in 1773, it was a bunch of rich Boston "young bloods" who disguised themselves as Indians, boarded the ships and threw 342 chests of tea into the sea. Almost every member of that historic raiding party could have bought the full cargoes many times over, had he wished.

(But instead, they said, in the occasionally-terse rhetoritic of the times, that the English King's tax was "trivial, but tyrannical," and that most colonists could not afford such taxation—without accompanying benefits — so they heaved the royal cargo overboard.)

Once again, it seems that influential New Englanders are arising to protest the plight of the less fortunate. Mayor John B. Hynes has called on all prominent citizens to appear before the committee, warning that children and institutional patients will be the chief sufferers unless something is done to halt skyrocketing costs for food and other essentials.

NEED FOOD FUNDS

By mid-November, Hynes said, the Boston City Hospital, the Long Island Hospital and the Boston Sanatorium will be without money for food—at present prevailing prices

State Purchasing Agent George J. Cronin added that the state's hospitals and institutions already are unable to feed patients and inmates nutritionally and remain within their budgets.

Mrs. Mary Higgins, president of the Consumers' Guild of America, said flatly that "parents just haven't the money to buy sufficient food for their children, because of present high prices."

Today, it isn't a matter of taxation or kings, or freedom versus tyranny. But there is one striking similarity: today, just as in 1773, a situation has become intolerable and—just as their forefathers answered a cry in the night long ago—New Englanders are responding to the appeal, and converging on this hub city to testify.

There's Mayor Albert Cole of nearby Lynn, who says, "the government must take immediate action," and Mayor John Devane of Waltham, who says it's time for the President and Congress to quit talking and start acting. And Mayor Bernard I. Sullivan of Chelsea, who says the average family won't be able to exist much longer at present prices.

Big engines...long trains mean lower cost to you!

But union leaders want "half-trains"-double crews!

Big locomotives are built to do a big job in the big country which is America—a big job in peacetime as in wartime. They are built to pull long trains.

Long freight trains can handle more goods at less cost—to you—than short trains.

Long trains mean fewer trains—fewer chances for accidents—fewer interruptions to traffic.

But a few railroad union leaders oppose long trains—among their current 44 demands for changes in rules is one limiting the length of freight trains to 57 average cars. Why do they demand this?

For "safety," they say. But is it?

Government figures show definitely that long trains mean greater safety to railroad employes and public alike.

Then, if safety is not the real reason—what is the reason behind this demand?

It is to make more jobs which are not needed—to get more pay! This "made work" would be sheer waste. Think of big, modern locomotives using only half their power.

For this waste, you—the public—would have to pay. Higher costs mean a lower standard of living for everybody. Nobody wants that!

Here's the record...

In the quarter century...1921-1946...

Average length of freight trains has gone up..........	39%
Average speed of freight trains has gone up....	39%
The rate of injuries to railroad employes has gone down..........	60%
Average wages paid railroad workers have gone up..........	84%
Price of railroad materials and supplies has gone up..........	58%
Railroad taxes have gone up..........	76%
But the average charge by railroads for hauling a ton of freight one mile has gone down	23%

AN INSPIRING MESSAGE

MR. JAMES F. O'NEIL of Manchester, N. H., the new and popular National Commander of the American Legion, believes that every man, woman and school-age child in the country should know the United States Constitution.

Accordingly, Mr. O'Neil gladly accepted our invitation to unite with us in urging all Americans to observe Constitution Day tomorrow and to make it the kind of day that will encourage citizens to rejoice in their liberties and to resolve with new fervor to keep them.

This is the Legion Commander's message:

THE PRESIDENT of the United States has designated Wednesday, Sept. 17, as Constitution Day.

On this day we must vigorously rededicate ourselves to the principles of democracy which have produced such bountiful blessings for Americans.

Not only Constitution Day but EVERY DAY should be observed as Rededication Day if we are to preserve the priceless treasures accruing to us through the Constitution.

By virtue of the Constitution and its Bill of Rights we are both author and master of our system of government, which has yielded such abundant returns to its citizens.

WITH ONLY 7 PER CENT OF THE WORLD'S PEOPLE, AMERICANS HAVE 50 PER CENT OF THE WORLD'S WEALTH.

WE HAVE GREATER EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES THAN ALL THE REST OF THE WORLD COMBINED.

WE HAVE MORE MANUFACTURED PRODUCTS PER CAPITA THAN ANY NATION. AMERICA IS BOTH THE BREAD BASKET AND THE CHARITABLE CENTER OF THE WORLD.

The expressions in speech, voting and the press enjoyed by Americans would bring imprisonment, slavery and death in a country which is now trying to inject its influence upon our people.

The Communist, who denies our time-tested economic plan—based on private enterprise, free competition and reward through effort—is making his bid for America.

Red agents are asking us to renounce a government of, by and for the people in exchange for a country of, by and for the Kremlin.

In 1948, as before, the American Legion will be engaged in an all-out war against these cunning advocates of a foreign philosophy.

The manpower of three and one-quarter million veterans who fought two terrible world wars to preserve democracy is embarked on a crusade to drive un-Americanism from our shores, and to provide Americans with a new appreciation of our treasured way of life.

OUR ARMOR AND WEAPON WILL BE AMERICANISM.

THE AMERICAN LEGION will launch an Americanism program to arrest the infiltration of un-American philosophies into American homes.

More than twelve million pieces of literature illustrating the fundamental advantages of American life will be distributed, with a new booklet reaching ten million homes each month

The American Legion intends to help destroy the foreign-controlled Communist Party, which seeks to overthrow, by force if necessary, the United States Government.

Agents of totalitarian Russia fail to analyze correctly the Constitution against which they ply their vicious trade.

Our law of the land provides freedoms to "the people of the United States." Communists do not fall within that category.

If they don't know it, they must learn it.

Today there is a fresh need for the faith and sacrifice freedom demands.

Every American should join the ranks to form a united, all-American front impregnable to un-American philosophies.

It's time for house-cleaning.

AMERICA IS FOR AMERICANS.

IN BEAUTY contests in Scotland, bathing girls are not featured. The prize goes to the most intelligent and best dressed contestant. Fine idea. Have you noticed very few winners of bathing beauty contests in this country ever achieve outstanding success? It is also interesting to note none of the three leading actresses of the stage looks well in a bathing suit. The same is true of the three most brilliant actresses of the screen.

MALE GENIUS: At times we have called attention to the fact that many men of genius, by their inventions and suggestions, have done much to solve the domestic problems of women and make life easier for home managers. With this in mind, a young Brooklyn matron asks if some "male genius" would tell her how to get her young children to drink their milk regularly. A New York "male genius" makes the following suggestion: "Use brightly colored cups for the milk and give the kiddies brightly colored straws to drink with."

ARMY SKIRTS: The matter of lengthening the skirts of the WACS, so the distaff side of the Army will be in style, is now being considered. Lengthening the skirts of the WACS will take all the snap out of their appearance. Furthermore, if the skirts are kept short a lot of girls will probably enlist just for the opportunity to wear them

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q.—My sweetheart is a left-handed, green-eyed brunette with freckles. Are there many girls answering to that description? A.—The object of your affections is a very rare type. Incidentally, girls with freckles are said to be unusually affectionate. So, young fellow, you are apparently doing all right. When's the wedding to be? Q.—The gentlemanly bar steward at the corner pub insists Jim Flynn, the former heavyweight boxer, was of Italian descent. Is he right? A.—Heavyweight Jim Flynn, who spent most of his career trying to knock out Jack "Twin" Sullivan, was born in Brooklyn of Italian parents. His real name was Andrew Chiariglione

ASIDES: Patricia D'Este, blonde numerologist of Hollywood, says: "Women dress to please women but hope to please men." I think Patricia is just trying to get me into an argument. Anyway, I believe it is the other way around . . . Richard Dally, English coal miner, has worked underground for 70 years and is still at it. He started to work in the mines at the age of nine. That's certainly early to start working for a living. I was 14 when I collected my first pay check. How about you?

HORSES & WOMEN: Hardly a day passes but some California saddle mite is fined or suspended for "not keeping a horse straight in the stretch." The jockeys are usually not to blame. Many Pacific Coast thoroughbreds, who are raced the year 'round, struggle gallantly to do their best but their legs are giving out. So they stagger toward the finish line instead of running straight like healthy horses.

LEG MEN: Somebody should write a book about the celebrated "leg men" of newspaper history. A "leg man" is a fellow who digs up stories and phones them in to the office or tells them directly to a rewrite man. The greatest of "leg men" was Max Fischel of New York city, who was a newspaper reporter for 58 years and never wrote a line that appeared in print.

PASSING BY: Dale Carnegie. One of the innumerable writers who achieved financial gain by writing an article or book with a title "How To." Those two little words have been in the titles of more money-making books than any other two in the dictionary . . . Barbara Jo Walker, Winner of the Miss America title for 1947. Another triumph for the brunettes. Also for the tall girls. These are certainly depressing days for the little and medium sized blondes. They are losing ground everywhere, even as band canaries . . . Bill Helis, Oil man from New Orleans. An enthusiastic admirer of horses, dogs and good cigars. Said to be worth around $50,000,000. He started from the bottom as a laborer in the oil fields

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 — Robert E. Stripling, who comes from San Augustine, Tex., is the best expert we have in practice on Communism, Communists, Trojan horsemanship and allied political and criminal subjects.

Westbrook Pegler

He is not a Marxian scholar in his own right but he has had so much gymnasium work, so to speak, with most of their greatest obfuscationists that he can box them fancy or dig in and slug, and chase them right out of the building.

He doesn't bar anyone—playwrights, unioneers, actors or lawyers.

Any weight; any color; commission rules or tomcat style. It is all the same to him.

MR. STRIPLING is the chief investigator for the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives. This is now a permanent committee.

Back in 1934 and 1935 there was a special committee presided over mostly by Sam Dickstein, a New York Tammany-New Dealer.

Dickstein was hell on Nazis, and anyone who was openly anti-Semitic was a Nazi, but he didn't exert himself much over Communism.

Doc J. B. Matthews, who came in as chief investigator for the Dies Committee, says that in several volumes of testimony and other evidence bequeathed to the Dies Committee, there were only a few pages of material concerning the Communist treachery.

So when the House was fixing to select a new committee, John Garner wanted a different type for chairman.

MARTIN DIES, a Texas Congressman, had been viewing the sitdown strikes with alarm, so Garner and a couple of other Deep-South chew-tobacco Democrats, got together and picked him.

Then the bawling and the hollering began from New York. Dickstein didn't even get a place on the Dies Committee.

Dies had no experience but he learned fast and he had the luck to get Doc. J. B. Matthews for his chief investigator and examiner.

THE DIES COMMITTEE proved that the Communists had counterfeited American money in Berlin and shoved it in the United States; that they had deliberately debauched American youth, girls and boys, by teaching them that our old-style morality was a capitalistic plot to make them conform and to deny them life; that the whole Communist movement was a plot by the Russian government, including Stalin, Molotov and all those with whom we have been trying to do business in good faith, to destroy our nation.

DIES HAD BROUGHT Stripling up from Texas for a patronage job as assistant sergeant-at-arms of the House. Now he took him along to the Dies committee as assistant clerk, another country-boy job.

Stripling worked along under Matthews, learning more about Communists every day.

The Dies Committee expired in December, 1944, and Congressmen John S. Wood of Georgia and John B. Rankin of Mississippi ran the new one.

They made a poor job of it. One reason was that a campign of political spite had been started over the radio on national hookups on Sunday nights to drive Stripling into the Army.

He was one of those pre-Pearl Harbor fathers and thousands of union racketeers and saboteurs were being deferred but finally Stripling was taken, when the committee needed him.

He put in 15 months as a yard-bird. Commanding officers knew he was politically hot and the Roosevelt influence was so strong against him in the War Department that he couldn't even get attached to a company. He was a homeless, orphan casual picking up cigaret butts.

Then he suddenly was recognized as an expert, rated up to master sergeant, and, on orders, set up and taught a course on subversive activities at Camp Holabird, near Washington.

Roosevelt was dead now. So for the first time it was permissable to teach American soldiers how to detect and thwart Communists.

STRIPLING'S COMMANDING officer wrote the War Department that he ought to be discharged, but added that if he were there would undoubtedly be a loud clamor of propaganda from his enemies

Therefore Stripling had to stick it out until he was automatically discharged by law after 18 months

The new Committee on Un-American Activities hired him as chief investigator right away, and he was in charge of the recent proceedings which sent another bunch of Communists to prison. He got the evidence

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16 - Joan Crawford stopped by with her two babies to see me. I have never seen anything as adorable as these two big-eyed little girls

Gene Tierney

I don't wonder Joan hates to leave them when she sails Friday for Honolulu. She tells me she is delighted about her next picture, "Until Proven Guilty," the Charles MacArthur play which she does for Warners. It was originally called "Ladies and Gentlemen," and starred Helen Hayes on the stage. It's the story of 12 persons on a jury, and how the trial affects their lives.

I think one reason Joan is so successful is because she is so enthusiastic about every role she plays. Of course, Jerry Wald will be at the production helm. She feels he's very lucky for her. She tells me she isn't giving up the idea entirely of doing a musical, but "Until Proven Guilty" is ready to go in November.

FASHION LOVERS at Oleg Cassini's fall collection in New York will be right in thinking his most beautiful model looks "just like his ex-wife, Gene Tierney." It will be Gene!

Gene, who has been so loyal to Oleg despite her divorce from him last March, telephoned me from New York that she had offered to model for him at his fashion show, and that he had accepted her help.

What's more, when she returns to Hollywood Sept. 22 for "Walls of Jericho," she will bring with her the costume sketches Oleg made for her. Yes, he's still going to dress her for the screen.

I heard today that Ralph Bellamy may come West for "Jericho." Some cast – Gene, Linda Darnell, Ann Dvorak, and now Ralph.

YES, IT'S TRUE. Red Skelton will star in "The Fuller Brush Man" for Eddie Small. Remember, I told you Eddie was trying to get him

Filming starts next month with S. Slyvan Simon directing-producing and Columbia releasing the picture

This is the first time Red has been away from his MGM home, and the deal, I understand, was made on a trade basis. Metro agreed to loan Red to Eddie in exchange for one of the small properties, "The Dark Canyon."

Betcha the brush company wishes it could borrow Red for a spell. What a rush of business that would mean!

Claude Dauphin arrives in about a month to be the house guest of the Louis Jourdans. Claude has been playing opposite Danielle Darrieux in Paris, and is at the moment making a picture in France

A cocktail party was given Claude by Maria Montez and Jean Pierre Aumont about a year ago when Dauphin visited Hollywood, and I thought then some producer would nab him He is such a good actor.

Speaking of the Aumonts, Maria and Jean sent me a cable saying that they have never been happier in their lives and there is no truth in their reported separation.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Bing's eldest, Gary Crosby, is certainly a real chip off the old block. He and Bill Gargan's son, Leslie, will be roommates at Bellarmine Prep this year, and before leaving for school, the two completed plans for a business venture which ought to net them a pretty penny.

They will service San Jose householders with out-of-town newspapers, flown in from the East especially for the young merchants. Don't think Bing and Bill aren't chuckling over their sons' business acumen.

MERLE OBERON'S broken jaw has thrown the "Berlin Express" company into a dither. It isn't possible to shoot around the picture, since Merle is in all the next scenes. There are still three weeks of shooting so of course, there isn't a chance she will be replaced by RKO. There was more cheerful news today when the doctor said Merle could go back in two weeks

At first it seemed like it might be months because her jaw is wired and it's all a matter of the fracture setting.

JOHN HOYT says he has adopted me for his lucky talisman. Soon after I wrote that I thought Hollywood was overlooking a good bet in him, John got a big role in "Christopher Blake."

Now, he tells me, he has been signed for an even bigger one, the part of Bette Davis' confidant and financial advisor in "Winter Meeting." Bette, it seems, personally asked for him. That's nice going, John, and I'm happy for you

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Greta Garbo is at Boileau, hiding under an enormous straw hat—but I hear tell no one notices her.

When Orson Welles was in Europe, he spent four days at Antibes in the company of Miss Martin Carroll, a beautiful French actress.

Rhonda Fleming and Ted Allen of the Margaret Ettinger office a twosome at the Brown Derby.

Don't believe anything you hear about the Jean Peters-Howard Hughes romance getting cold. It's very, very much on Dale Carnegie was making friends and influencing people in a big way at Mr. Robert Cobb's Hat Cafe on Vine st. Lina Romay and Tommy Call, Jr. have called off their marriage plans.

Ann Dvorak

When Ann Dvorak and Igor Dega were married, Bob White and Dorothy Gilcrest were their attendants. Now the tables are turned—Ann and Igor acted as matron of honor and best man when Bob and Dorothy were married last Thursday night

Joe Frisco returns to Charlie Foy's the end of the month. He was supposed to come back before, and when he found he couldn't he telephoned Charlie collect.

Lucille Bremer and Rod Rodriguez, the son of the former President of Mexico, may soon have an announcement

Bill Lundigan is bedded at home because of the shots he took preparatory to going to Mexico for his next picture, "Mystery in Mexico."

Joan Barton goes to New York in a couple of weeks to marry Earl Muntz- "Madman" to you

One of the hottest romances in New York is that of Paul Douglas and Eleanor French She's in "Voice of the Turtle."

The Eddy Duchin-Chiquita Winn marriage happened so quickly that none of Eddy's friends knew a thing about it

Mae West has gone to London to do "Diamond Lil." She figures if we don't want her, London does

John Carridine is right back where he started from years ago when he paraded, up and down Hollywood blvd. As a Shakespearean character. He and his wife are touring the country with a Shakespearean repertory

That's all today See you tomorrow.

Broadway's Voice

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Sept. 16— Rumors from three directions— Saratoga, Hyde Park and Provincetown hint that Faye Emerson and Elliott Roosevelt are sitting on a news story . . . The most blinding car in town is the dazzling low-slung foreign model belonging to Paul Lukas and glossily enameled a louder-than-fire-engine-red Hundreds of gapers blocked East 53rd st. traffic outside the Stork Club Wednesday afternoon while Lukas lunched within . . . The great success of the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers revivals has RKO biggies toying with the idea of reuniting the team for another super-duper musical . . . Singer Bunty Pendleton is on the mend after having been floored by a strep infection of the arm . . . Jane Kean of "Call Me Mister" gets up early to lunch with Normen Ruvell.

Faye Emerson

GARRY MOORE was so enchanted with Jimmy Savo at the Plaza the other night that he's made the pixie-ish star a present of a virtual treasury of special material recitations and songs. The first one Jim plans to use is "Hugn, the Blue Gru" . . . George S. Kaufman appears excited over Natalie Schafer . . . Everybody at "The Medium" and "The Telephone" was in a dither when word got around that Richard Knight (who once stood on his head at a Met opening) was going to attend a matinee performance Mr. Knight appeared as scheduled but remained almost disappointingly right-side-up

JACKIE COOGAN tells friends he may go in for producing, refilming some of his old starring vehicles with Robert Alda's little brother Alli in the parts played by "The Kid" . . . That was quite a tiff author Sinclair Lewis had with jazz singer Stella Brooks in a Provincetown pub the other night . . . "Romeo" George Lowther takes a new "Juliet" this month. She's Marcella Gump, the West Coast heiress . . . Reports from out of town indicate that Agnes De Mille has one of the smash numbers of her career in a cocktail party dance in "Allegro" It's a satiric bit in which false smiles flash on and off like electric bulbs . . . Bookies about town are still offering a thousand simoleons for private telephones . . . One of Rita Hayworth's ex-husbands is said to be smitten with Anne Jeffreys Anne still isn't divorced from her estranged mate—can't locate him . . . One of the contestants in the Miss America contest is reported to have disappeared after some of the other girls cast remarks about her appearance. She just didn't show up for the rest of the judging

THAT FAMED former fistic champion and his on-again off-again, but seemingly never "never again" cardiac magnet have been secretly smooching once more after all those tears and all those years . . . Copacabana dancing stars Mario and Floria are more blissfully mated than most terpsichorean husband-and-wife teams. They not only wear twin wedding bands but also twin engagement rings. (And Floria's a smart girl. Mario bought his as well as hers!) The movie moguls don't want their stars to sport those long skirts and padless shoulders before the cameras. Not just because they're unbecoming and make the glamor girls look years older but think how howlingly outdated they'll look by the time the films now in the making are released

MARY KIRK BROWN was in a spending mood at the Three Deuces the other night. Bought a round for the entire house, paid a bill of $122 and tipped the pop-eyed bartender $50 . . . Eddie Cantor predicts that Monica Lewis (now at Loew's State) will be a star in the near future Lou Walters feels the same way about Gloria Le Roy, whose career he is guiding at his Latin Quarter . . . Swimming pools, which used to be a "must annex" to any film star's estate, are now practically as unpopular in Hollywood as a producer with fallen options. Reason? Well, it seems all the glamor lads and lassies have gone so storkmad in the past few years that they've vetoed the big, expensive holes-in-the-ground as hazards for tots of toddler age

LEE SULLIVAN says the threatened ankle-length trousers for men don't frighten him a bit. He's been wearing knee-length kilts in "Brigadoon" for six months . . . How the lowly veal cutlet has come up in the world! At Monte's on the Park, the always succulent but formerly plebian dish is served with sturgeon and caviar topping it . . . "Kiss of Death," for all its vaunted authenticity, is guilty of a terrific boner in one of its early New York background shots. A view of Broadway is shown—and one movie marquee flickers with lights advertising Jeannette MacDonald in "The Love Parade," a hit of about 15 years ago!

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16— We will now hear from that master economist and labor consultant, Harry Richman, on the state of the unions—plural.

"I am a member, in good voice, of the American Guild of Variety Artists," said Mr. Richman, "being a man who sings a variety of songs on a variety of stages for a living.

"However, now and again, I get offers to sing under other auspices—usually just one song. But I have to be very careful about accepting or I will be up to my vocal chords in unions.

"Suppose, for instance, one of the radio networks asks me to sing a song, maybe a socially-significant work like 'Your Broadway and My Broadway.' I can't do it unless I join the Radio Artists' Union.

"That makes me a member of two unions. But now they want me to sing a song—just one song mind you—for a spot in a picture. So I have to join the Movie Actors' Guild.

"Well, they are going to have a concert hereabouts and Oscar Levant has suggested I do a song—again the same song. I first have to join the Concert Artists' Union.

"A couple of big revues are being organized here and feelers have been put out for me to sing a song in one of them. But I would first have to join Actors' Equity.

"There was also some talk of having me sing one of my big numbers for a gala affair in a burlesque theater in one of the outlying communities. But I am held back because I would have to join the Burlesque Artists' Union."

Mr. Richman paused to rest his pipes and I asked if he hadn't about run out of unions.

"Not quite," he said. "Supposing the circus comes to town and John Ringling North feels it would not be a complete success unless I warble one number for him. I would have to join the Circus Artists' Union."

I thought this over for a few minutes, then said

"Why don't you just quit and rest on your laurels?"

"Can't," said Mr. Richman. "I am not a member of the Laurel-Resters' Union."

I WENT UP today to visit a lady who is fairly well known around these parts and discovered she got her start under circumstances quite similar to mine. I mean we were born within a couple of blocks of each other in Toronto, Can

This lady was born in a house on University ave., which is a broad thoroughfare ending in Queens Park where the provincial parliament buildings are located. I was born in the Western Hospital on Bathurst st.—showing it was a pretty small Toronto after all.

Well, when Mary Pickford learned of this practically deathless bond she asked: 'What was that song we had to sing when we filed into school every morning?" So we stood up and regaled the assemblage, consisting of Buddy Rogers, my little woman, and a playwright named Polan Banks, with a stirring rendition of "The Maple Leaf Forever."

It was a good thing that Pickfair, where Miss Pickford and Mr. Rogers dwell unhumbly, is fairly isolated, because the dissonance was horrid. Remember, Miss Pickford made her reputation in silent pictures, not as a singer.

I asked the lady if she remembered her old home on University ave.

"Do I remember it?" she cried. "I have the old front door down in my basement here. I am still trying to figure what to do with it as, frankly, it wasn't much of a door. And I have a carload of the bricks, which I bought when the house was being torn down. I figure some day I can make a fireplace with them."

Miss Pickford long has been very good about admitting tourists to Pickfair but recently she called a halt.

"They were getting too personal," she explained. "They would bust right up to the house, ring the bell, then ask the servant all sorts of questions—how old I am now; whether I have any money left; and—this was the stopper—how much I weigh."

"Seems a bit personal," I agreed. "Incidentally, how old are you?"

"An interesting question," replied Miss Pickford. "Now, let's sing 'The Maple Leaf Forever' over again."

Smart Set Dedham Hunts Due

By BETTY ALDEN

PINK-COATED HUNTERS will soon be a familiar sight riding to hounds over the Dedham countryside. The fall season at the Dedham Hunt Club has started with informal meets every Wednesday and Saturday and the formal hunts, with riders in colorful regalia and a whirl of hunt breakfasts and teas, will soon be in full swing.

By that time the harvests will be in and landowners will have cleared courses over their fields and meadows where stone walls, brooks and fences are inviting obstacles for enthusiastic riders.

Darby Almy

Darby Almy is MFH of the Dedham Hunt. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Almy and comes from a family of expert equestrians. This summer she had a fling at riding the range on a western ranch.

Hunting enthusiasts who have joined the meets already this season include Elizabeth Cabot, Mrs. Frederick H. Barron, Jeanne Barstow, Stuart C. Davidson, Theodore T. Whitney, Jr., Arnault B. Edgerly, Robert Burke, Eugene Sanger, Edith Lyman and, in the younger division, Phyllis Jackson and Phyllis Ohl. As families return from summer homes there will be more riders at each meet.

An honest-to-goodness cowboy joined the group last Saturday. He is Bob Pennell who drove the car of a Canton family back from Wyoming where they visited during the summer. Though accomplished at riding the range and rounding up cattle, he actually needed some coaching in taking the jumps in the style of eastern hunters.

SECOND ROMANCE within a month in the family of Dr. and Mrs. Roger Irving Lee of Brookline is revealed in announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Brooks of Concord of the betrothal of their daughter, Rosamond, to Arthur Lyman Lee. A few weeks ago, William Thomas Lee, another son of Dr. and Mrs. Lee, became engaged to Martha Tracy Houghton of Marblehead.

Miss Brooks graduated from Concord Academy and Bryn Mawr 1946. Mr Lee graduated from Milton Academy and is a member of the class of 1945 at Harvard.

THE MUCH DISCUSSED longer skirt will be the subject of the Fashion Group luncheon Friday at the Hotel Somerset. Charles James, American designer, will give his views on the latest fashion and there will be a showing of his new fall and winter styles.

Head table guests will include a number of Boston's best dressed women, Mrs. James J. Phelan, of Beacon st.; Mrs. John Shepard, 3rd, Brookline; Mrs. Stephen Randolph Casey, Lincoln; Mrs. William R. Byrnes, Belmont; Mrs. Illona Pinkham, Marblehead, and Mrs. Mortimer Gryzmish, Boston.

BOSTON WHEATON CLUB officers and committee chairmen are holding a coffee meeting this evening at the Hotel Commander to discuss the year's program. Mrs. Vivian Boyden Levya, president, will preside and among those attending will be Mrs. Virginia Miller, Brookline; Mrs. Donald Gibbs, Newton; Priscilla Mead, Brookline; Mrs. Edward Shields, Dedham; Miriam Dickey, West Roxbury; Elizabeth Lewis, Lexington; Mrs. Edmund Nutting, Newton; Barbara Woodworth, Newton; Mrs. Lawrence Luther, North Hampton, N. H.; Dorothy Crounse, Boston; Mary Lavazzo, Arlington, and Antoinette Pieroni, Cambridge.

2 U. S. Aides Burned In Boat Explosion

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) Two men employed by the U. S Interior Dept. suffered burns and were forced to leap overboard when a government motor launch in which they were riding in the East river was set afire by an unexplained explosion.

Joseph Lucash, 36, of Milford, Ct., who was operating the boat, and Donald Shipley, 33, of Stamford, Ct., a biologist, were treated for burns of the feet at Metropolitan Hospital after being rescued from the water, police said.

Exercises for Neck Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

UNLESS YOU HAVE A SPIRITED throat-line as youthful-looking as your face (as I hope) . . . you won't be able to wear the chocker necklaces or the dresses with chin-chin neckline and profile accents so popular this fall. While good posture is an absolute necessity for the new silhouettes . . . a slim, firm column between your head and your shoulders is a positive must.

There isn't anything in the beauty line quite so discouraging as trying to subtract a chin or two and making them one . . . or firming a flabby, sagging chin-line. But it can be done. You simply won't be able to wear . . . and wear well . . . the new neck accents both in fashions and jewelry if your connecting beauty link between your face and your body is anything but beautiful . . . if it is fleshy and too full . . . or too scrawny and too hollow.

The supreme elegance of a classic throat column can be developed by throatline calisthenics . . . bolstered by a lubricating cream and wrinkle discourager. To wit, a very special throat and neck blend that's been one of the top beauty items in a noted cosmetician's all-encompassing beauty line.

CHIN-MOULDING EXERCISES

Once past 30 . . . it takes more than good posture to keep the throatline young. You have to exercise for muscle tone . . . apply a specific, throat conditon, texture-improving cream for a soft, smooth skin . . . and call on your will power to make your neck and throat routine a beautifying habit. That's why it is so important to start young.

There's a secret to exercising the throat muscles effectively . . . slowly tense all muscles as the movements are performed, enabling this grand throat cream to do its good work. We have devised a series of throat and chin-moulding exercises which you can pursue in the privacy of your bedroom . . . after you've applied this special throat and neck blend. They are for a sagging chin and relaxed throat . . . for reducing double chins . . . and for moulding scrawny throats and hollow necks. They are yours for the writing!

NECKS COMMAND ATTENTION

Between the effectiveness of the throat blend and the performance of these simple calisthenics . . . your beauty column will prosper and you'll be proud to hold your head high for that personality plus throat jewelry accessory . . . or high-necked dress. Virtually every dress, suit and coat this season has highly featured neck interest. Even hats have gone profile in look and appearance. A gal just can't get away from giving this annatomical area some pampering attention.

It can't be hidden when fashion points to it so definitely. Nor can you just grin and bear it. Of course, you can just not care and let it go at that. But if we know our sex . . . there isn't a woman who doesn't harbor a secret yearning for the swan-like replica. All she needs to be told is how. Here it is!

For the name of this special throat and-neck blend, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4900, any day except Sunday, or write . . . and ask, too, for the neck and throat beautifying exercises to be done at home . . . to me care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU DON'T have to have a model's classic beauty to wear this dramatic ten-strand Trifari-designed pearl bib necklace . . . but you do need a firm and fine throatline to wear well the new fashions. You can correct a flabby, sagging chin by doing a few simple beautifying exercises . . . yours for the asking . . . and using a specific and special throat and neck blend. Together, the cream and the exercises will rout throatline age and rejuvenate this all-too-often neglected area.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

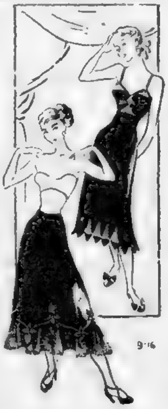
DON'T BE CONSPICUOUS! High school girls who talk loudly, sing, whistle, shove or "clown" in public are annoyng to adult passers-by and their conduct is a reflection on their school. (It's possible to have a good time on the way from school without making yourself conspicuous.)

Slips Are Longer, Too

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

FOUR inches isn't even the ranking part of a foot, but add four inches to the length of a dress and you stir up a thousands tempests. Since the designers unveiled their collections this summer, revealing longer hemlines, milliners have recast the size and shapes of their new hats; shoemakers have given shoes a new silhouette and a woman we know resigned from her bridge club in a huff because the other members wouldn't pledge themselves to abstain from longer skirts.

These reactions are but slight compared with the turmoil in the slip world. Manufacturers' stocks of usual-length slips suddenly had no market; even with shoulder straps let out all the way they were not long enough. The new slips, made to match the longer dresses, are based on a 45-inch length for size 32, with a half-inch added for each larger size.



Mme. Tewi designed the petticoat and slip sketched today. Both are in the fashionably new dark colors. The midcalf length petticoat, created for the popular ballet dresses, is black silk. Its leaf-scalloped hemline is embroidered with a wreath of red roses and finished with a wide edging of flared net. The brown silk slip is inset with pyramids of ecru lace. The hemline is diamond-cut.

Let Variety Be Your Guide In Packing Tasty Lunches

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

THE WORST HAZARD in packing daily lunches is monotony—to be combatted only by variety. Variety in sandwiches—breads as well as fillings; variety in beverages—fill the thermos with soup one day, a drink the next; variety in fruits and vegetables—raw vegetables should replace the fruit from time to time; and variety in desserts—just a piece of candy thrown in occasionally is a fine surprise.

Sandwiches are the natural mainstay of lunch-box meals, so concentrate on learning to make interesting and tasty ones. Use bread as fresh as possible so that it won't dry out after standing a few hours; and don't trim off the crusts because they help to hold in freshness.

Vary the sandwich fillings—never include two identical sandwiches in a lunch box or the schoolboy is bound to swap one of them with a buddy. A good idea is to include one meat sandwich—probably using the leftover meat from last night's dinner and the other, using an old standby like peanut butter that lends itself to so many combinations and becomes more appealing with each one.

DEVILED HAM SPREAD

½ cup deviled ham
¼ cup peanut butter
2 tbsp. mayonnaise
2 tbsp. butter or margarine

Spread bread with butter or margarine. Combine deviled ham, peanut butter, mayonnaise; spread one slice of bread. Top with remaining slice, cut and wrap in waxed paper.

RAISIN SPREAD

½ cup chopped golden seedless raisins
½ cup peanut butter
2 tsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. water
3 tbsp. butter or margarine

Spread bread with butter or margarine. Combine peanut butter, raisins and mayonnaise. Spread generously on one slice of bread. Top with remaining slice; cut and wrap securely in waxed paper.

JELLY SPREAD

½ cup peanut butter
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup jelly

Spread bread with butter or margarine. Cover one slice generously with peanut butter and the other with jelly. Place together to form a sandwich.

PEANUT SUGAR SNAPS

½ cup shortening
¼ cup peanut butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
2-3 cup chopped salted or roasted peanuts
1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Cream shortening and peanut butter. Add sugar gradually. Beat in eggs. Add peanuts and extract. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into first mixture. Shape in 1-inch balls and place on greased cookie sheet. Press flat with bottom of small water glass covered with a piece of damp cheesecloth. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

PLANTATION MILK SHAKE

¼ cup peanut butter
1 tbsp. honey
¼ tsp. vanilla
Dash salt
2 cups milk

Place peanut butter, sugar and salt in bowl; add ¼ cup of milk, whip with rotary beater or electric mixer until smooth. Add remaining milk gradually; beat until smooth. Add vanilla. Chill in covered jar in refrigerator until ready to use. When serving, top with dash of nutmeg.

HEAD HIGH for this Anthony Blotta-designed black wool cocktail costume with the new and extravagant look. Mozart inspired . . . the simple but effective silhouette has a separate tunic top lavishly embroidered at the shoulder line and down the sleeves in gold bullion beads and paillettes in lyre and leaf design . . . in an accurate capturing of the new season opulence.—R. M.

How WONDER BREAD Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways!

Note How Amazing Wonder Bread Compares with Meat, Milk and Fish in Certain Growth and Energy-Building Contents (as stated at right)

Everybody knows the foundation of good health is good nutrition.

Science now says that better nourished children learn better.

Yet, despite the fact that children do 60% of school work in the morning—7 out of 10 fail to get a good breakfast.

Thus, to start your child off on the day right, you are urged to give your child a good breakfast.

Serve the basic "Wonder 4" Breakfast. And add more of the same and other foods, according to age and appetite. The better the breakfast, the better your child.

Serve Wonder Bread to your child—because Wonder Bread gives your child 8 of the necessary body-building elements that Nature uses to build a good health foundation.

See for yourself, at right, the 8 ways Wonder Bread helps build strong bodies.

Your child will love Wonder Bread. Because it tastes so good. So good because so fresh. Plain or toasted.

For Wonder Bread is doubly fresh. Fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

Because Wonder Bread is slo-baked—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

So get nourishing doubly fresh Wonder Bread from your grocer today. And see that your child gets plenty of Wonder Bread for breakfast—and every meal!

Cards, Magazines Sought for Vets

Boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army are urged once again to continue their collection of new and used decks of playing cards, as a card game is one of the most popular diversions for servicemen in hospitals.

Magazines of any description are greatly appreciated by the veterans at the various hospitals. The greatest demand is for mechanics, photography, travel, farm, nature and hobby magazines.

Junior Victory Army members are urged to gather books, games and picture puzzles, as these items are always popular and too many can't be provided.

Other donations required are cribbage boards, fishing gear, records of modern dance music and record players. These materials should be taken or sent to the nearest veterans hospital or to the Red Cross.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Sammy Kaye Back In Town Thursday At RKO Boston

Boston will be swinging and swaying with Sammy Kaye and his famous orchestra, the well known music makers, who will head the big stage show coming to the RKO Boston Theater, beginning Thursday.

Featuring all the stars of his band who appear with Sammy Kaye on coast-to-coast networks there will also be such headliners as Canfield Smith, ventriloquist, and his wooden headed friend, Snodgrass, and Olsen and Joy dance team.

The screen attraction will be "High Conquest" based on James Ramsey Ullman's "The White Tower," with Anna Lee, Gilbert Roland and Warren Douglas.

Kaye will present such popular members of his band as Don Cornell, Laura Leslie, Johnny Ryan, the Kayedets, the Kaye Choir and the Daffy Drummer, Ernie "Cecil" Rudisall.

At each performance Kaye will also conduct his well known radio feature, "So You Want to Lead a Band," when he picks members of the audience to come up on the stage and lead his orchestra. This results in a most amusing act, with prizes being given out to winners at each show.

Two Openings Tonight

"How I Wonder," the new Raymond Massey-starring comedy by Donald Ogden Stewart at the Wilbur, and "Alice in Wonderland," starring Eva Le Gallienne, Margaret Webster and Bambi Linn in Miss Le Gallienne's production of the Lewis Carroll classic at the Opera House, make tonight a double-header premiere night for local playgoers.

YES, SIR, THERE'S "SOMETHING IN THE WIND" with Deanna Durbin sporting a trim figure, a smart hairdo and a new leading man, John Dall. Universal-International's new musical is now to be seen on Keith Memorial screen.

'DEEP VALLEY' AT UPTOWN

California's Big Sur country, south of Monterey, provides the background for the Uptown's current melodrama, "Deep Valley," starring Ida Lupino, Dane Clark and Wayne Morris. On the same bill is "New Orleans," with Arturo de Cordova, Dorothy Patrick and Louis Armstrong and Woody Herman and their bands.

'Discovery' Held Over On Center Screen

"Discovery," exciting film reportage of R. Adm. Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition, continues a return engagement on the Center Theater screen. The region's dignified-appearing Emperor penguins provide some amusing footage. For thrills there are shots of a school of killer whales and the birth of icebergs.

along the coast to stand by for further advisories and be ready should the hurricane move toward land.

Small craft from mid-Florida to Hatteras were advised to remain in port.

PLANES EVACUATED

Military services began to evacuate planes from the area and Vice Adm. G. F. Bogan Atlantic Fleet Air Force commander, ordered evacuation of all naval aircraft on the East Coast from Cape Hatteras to Maine "as a purely precautionary measure."

He also instructed all ships in the harbor at Hampton Roads, Va., to be on a four-hour steaming notice at 6 a. m. today.

Dangerous gales and very high seas were predicted for the northeastern Bahamas, with winds of near hurricane force in the Abaco Island area. Storm warnings flew in the Bahamas.

Meanwhile, Army hurricane hunters searched the Atlantic far to the east of the Windward Islands, where a second storm appeared to be forming.

N. E. Takes Precautions To Meet Storm Threat

Navy, Coast Guard, state and municipal authorities began taking hurricane precautions today.

The weather bureau here said no warnings would be issued until the storm "gets somewhere in our geographical section." However, hurricane-wary officials took initial steps to meet emergencies that might arise if the storm reached this section.

Mayor Hynes scheduled a conference later today with forecasters and announced that if there was an indication the hurricane might hit the Boston area he would call an immediate meeting of public utilities representatives, health authorities and city department heads.

In Providence, R. I., Gov. John O. Pastore prepared to set up an emergency office in the State House for use if the hurricane strikes.

The Navy moved about 300 aircraft from Squantum and from Quonset and Charleston, R. I., to inland airfields at Presque Isle, Me., and Albany, N. Y. The Coast Guard also sent planes to island bases, but held others at Salem and at Quonset, R. I., to warn fishermen in the event the storm should veer in this direction.

The Boston weather bureau said that the hurricane, was at present "completely out" of the local area of forecast and that in any event it would be a couple of days before the storm could reach this section.

AMBUSH KILLS GUERRILLAS

ATHENS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Press reports from Salonika today said a strong guerrilla band after suffering a heavy defeat in the Kaimaktchalan area, took refuge in Yugoslavia only to be ambushed by a Yugoslav Nationalist "crusarer" band which killed 80 of the guerrillas.

STORE UP IRON for YOUR BLOOD

Get Vitamin B1 for your Nerves

When the body craves these vital elements, a rich supply can put color in your cheeks and help you feel like a new person WITHOUT ALCOHOL OR HABIT FORMING DRUGS.

When your system is low in iron and Vitamin B1 many vital organs slow down. You often look pale, lose your appetite, get tired easily, sleep poorly and feel nervous and played out. Iron helps make red blood and red blood is vital for healthy muscles, healthy skin, healthy glands and healthy organs. Iron poor blood may cause low vitality, heart palpitations, shortness of breath, swollen ankles and frequent periods of ill health.

You need Vitamin B1 and if you don't have enough Vitamin B1 you may get a painful neuritis, stomach upsets, constipation, weak appetite, mental depression, restless sleep.

In these conditions take ENRICH the thrilling new tonic that tastes like juice of wild berries and gives you more iron every day than 6 lbs. of spinach or 8 lbs. of raisins, more Vitamin B1 daily than ... lb. of baker's yeast. Your pep comes back with a bounce when you really enrich your iron and Vitamin B1 and you eat more, stop worrying and sleep better. Right in this neighborhood many men, women and children feel keen and lead happier lives through the help of ENRICH. Don't wait. ENRICH costs only a few cents a day. Money refunded unless ENRICH improves your state of well-being.

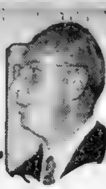
Believe Cards Done as Major Big League Power



By HUCK FINNEGAN

EN ROUTE TO ST. LOUIS—Are the Cards through as a major big league power? That was the opinion of the ex-Cards on the Braves' team today while they Heinie Manushed there for two night games Wednesday and Thursday with Eddie Dyer's second placers.

"They haven't the replacements they had when Rickey was in St. Louis," they agreed. "When since 1936 were they forced to rely on men like Medwick and Northey? When before couldn't they dip into their reserves at Columbus or Rochester for pitching help?

"I tell you the Cards' pennant-winning days are over. And they'll be second division stuff when Marion and Slaughter pass their peak—that is, unless Breadon sells the club, which it seems he's planning to do."

It is the ex-Cards' opinion that Rickey's Brooklyn Dodgers will be the team to beat in the future.

"Rickey built up the Cards for Breadon, and he's building another pennant-winning dynasty in Brooklyn. He's the smartest man in baseball. Look at the dough he got for Schultz (Phillies first baseman).

On Top Long Time

"HE'S GOT MORE young ball players than any other organization. He's got reserve power already—Rojek and Miksis—and he'll get stronger instead of weaker."

The Cards have been on top for a long, long time. They've won nine pennants and six world championships since Rajah Hornsby led them to their first flag in '26.

It galls the Braves, particularly the ex-Cards on the Braves, to be trailing the Cards 7-13 over the season.

"If we'd just broken even with them we'd beat 'em out for second place," they say, "and won't that second place money be something if all the World Series games are played in Yankee Stadium?"

The Braves still have a mathematical chance to beat out the Cards for second place, but they're more likely to finish fourth than second if they don't play better ball than they have behind Johnny Sain his last two times out.

Sain was beaten 4-3 by the Pirates in 13 innings last Thursday, 3-2 by the Cubs in the Braves' farewell game in Chicago. Braves made nine hits off southpaw Bob Chapman but didn't hit in the pinches.

A double by Holmes and three walks netted them only one run in the first. Frank McCormick foozled a rally when he was caught at second in the third. A double and two singles in the fourth gave them only one run, and Sain himself batted that one in.

But Sain hurt himself in his second bid for his 20th victory by wild-pitching Eddie Waitkus home in the first.

The Cambridge boy, incidentally, greeted Sain as if he were a long lost cousin. He tripled in the first, scoring on the WP. He singled in the fourth and scored on Aberson's triple. (Nicholson's long fly to Holmes in the same frame produced the Cubs' third run and winning marker.) Waitkus singled again in the sixth and lined fiercely to Sain in the eighth.

Braves had a 13-9 edge over the Cubs for the season, but the road ahead, however short, is thorny. All eight remaining games are with first division clubs, beginning with the Cards tomorrow. The Braves have done well this season, but if they want to finish third, highest spot since 1916, they'll have to hit it up from here in.

Southpaws for Cards

NO GAME TODAY for the Braves, who are due in St. Louis by nightfall. They only hope the Giants have checked out of their rooms . . . Voiselle will face the Cards tomorrow night, and southpaw Spahn will be ready for Thursday's arc light game. Braves like to toss southpaws at the Cards . . . Braves are now 3-6 for the trip—not good.

Before the Braves left Chicago, the Cubs announced purchase of shortstop Sal Madrid from Tulsa of the Texas League. He'll report tomorrow. He's a slick fielder but batted only .265, so it is doubtful if he'll chase Lennie Merullo to the minors. Merullo is sidelined with a back injury . . . Look for a big trade in Pittsburgh at season's end . . . Braves are all in favor of bands in a ball park and agree that the Cubs have the best band in the league . . . Also the best vocal and xylophone entertainment . . . Maybe Ray Mack wasn't embarrassed when he backed from the plate only to have Sain's side-arm curve ball cut the plate for strike three . . . Mike McCormick's lips were still puffed today but no teeth were loosend when he was hit by a line drive in Chicago. Mike considers himself fortunate that his nose wasn't smashed . . . Elliott singled with two out in the third, and F. McCormick followed with a hit to deep left that Aberson juggled. Elliott easily made third. Evidently McCormick thought the throw to be made to third, but Aberson crossed him up by throwing to second, and he was caught standing up . . . Mack opened the Cubs' fifth with a single. Masi immediately called for a pitchout and got Mack from here to there as he tried to steal second, smart baseball.

Harris Gives Players Full Credit For Yanks' 15th Flag in 27 Years

The Yankees were receiving congratulations today for having won their 15th flag in the last 27 years, a feat accomplished by no other team. Indications are that the new American League champions will shortly have a National League partner in the pennant celebration in the Brooklyn Dodgers, according to the Associated Press.

The Yankees clinched their championship yesterday without lifting a bat. The assurance of mathematical certainty came exactly at 3:51 p. m. (EDT) when word was flashed that the White Sox had defeated the Red Sox, 6-3, in the first game of a double-header.

The Dodgers' clinching date should come before the end of the week. Leading the fast fading St. Louis Cardinals by seven and a half games, the Brooks need only any combination of six victories or Redbirds' defeats to earn the right to face the Yankees in the World Series.

The Dodgers have 11 games left to play and the Cards 14. If everything goes their way, the Dodgers can wrap up the flag Thursday.

The Yankees actually won the pennant while they were sitting in the clubhouse when they heard the news that they had backed in through the Red Sox' loss. It was not the way they liked to win it. They wanted to win it on the field, but early afternoon rains made it impossible to play their scheduled game against the St. Louis Browns.

President Larry MacPhail and co-owner Del Webb were the first to congratulate the players and Mgr. Bucky Harris, who in his first year at the helm, directed the club to a pennant.

MacPhail, in extolling Harris for having done a great job of bringing an underdog New York team to the top, revealed that after he had drafted Harris from the front office to become a field manager, Bucky received an offer to become general manager of the Detroit Tigers, a job he always wanted.

"I told him I would release him from any promise," MacPhail explained, "but he replied that he would feel ungrateful if he took the job and that there were other things in life beside money. From that day on I pulled for Bucky and this day."

Harris gave most of the credit to his players. "I told you then," he reminded the writers, "that I would not have taken the job unless I believed we had a chance to win. And after 22 years of waiting, I'd say this pennant is the most thrilling of the three I've had."

The actual clinching margin was 13 games. The Yanks have 11 games to go while the Red Sox have 13. The Tigers, in second place, were eliminated Sunday. They have 11 games left.

Although it turned out to be one of the easiest championships ever won by the Yanks, it did not look that way early in the season. Off to a slow start, largely due to the fact that their big star, Joe DiMaggio, was slow convalescing from a heel operation, the Yankees wallowed in or around the second division until the beginning of June.

But the Yanks, led by the resurging DiMaggio and supported by the fine all-around playing of veterans George McQuinn, Tommy Henrich, and Billy Johnson, came on from there. The pitching, led by Frank Shea, a first year man, and veteran Spud Chandler, became the best in the league. Righthander Allie Reynolds, obtained from Cleveland in a trade for Joe Gordon, became a regular winner and Joe Page, a flop for two years, developed into the greatest relief pitcher in the game.

When Charley Keller, the club's leading home run hitter, suffered a back injury which sidelined him for the balance of the year, sub Johnny Lindell, a converted pitcher, stepped into his left field post and played the best ball of his career.

About the same time pitchers Shea and Chandler, who had borne the brunt of the mound work, came up with sore arms and newcomers Vic Raschi, an importation from the Pacific Coast League, and veteran Bobo Newsom, received via the waiver route from Washington, stepped in and did yeoman work.

The Yankees wrested first place from the Tigers on June 15. What really broke the race wide apart was an amazing 19-game winning streak hung up by the Yankees from June 29 to July 17.

Yanks Tired Says Harris

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Yankees, the baseball team that "refused to lose," started coasting today towards a World Series that will pit them against the Brooklyn Dodgers, barring a major upheaval.

"They need the rest," said Bucky Harris.

When it was pointed out that some critics attributed Red Sox' loss in the Series last year to the Cardinals to the fact that the Sox won with plenty to spare and then let down, Harris declared this factor did not worry him.

"I'm satisfied with my ball club," he said. "Way back the Yankees really had some teams. But this one is good enough to win. That's all that counts.

"Any club that wins the National League pennant is bound to be good," he said. "It will be a good series, here in New York—big crowds and lots of color. Yes, I think I know who I will start in the opening game, but I'm not going to tell now."

Charlie Dressen, Yankee coach who last year was with the Brooklyn Dodgers, appraised the two clubs this way:

"They've got a little more speed, but we've got more power."

"You know," said MacPhail, "back at the start of the season when we were in fourth place, I told Bucky that I thought we could win if we ever started clicking. Well, we did."

"I've waited a long time for this 22 years to be exact," said Harris. As the "boy wonder" he managed the Washington Senators in two series, in 1924 and 1925. "It was a long wait, but it was worth it."

WHAT STARS DID

By the Associated Press

JOHNNY MIZE, Giants—Doubled to center, scoring Buddy Kerr; doubled to left center, scoring Billy Rigney; fouled out behind third; grounded into a double play; flied to left.

TED WILLIAMS, Red Sox—Beat out a bunt for one hit four times at bat in the first game; in the field he made two errors on one play, booting a grounder in left field and then throwing wildly to the plate. He got three singles and a base on balls (151) in the nightcap.

STAN MUSIAL, Cardinals—Struck out, grounded out, singled to right and flied to center.

LOU BOUDREAU, Indians—Got one single in five times at bat but it drove in the winning run in the 11th inning as the Indians nipped the Athletics, 2-1.

(Jackie Robinson, Dodgers, and Joe DiMaggio, Yankees, did not play.)

More Derbies Than Stripers, Wail Anglers

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

As we predicted many moons ago, there may soon be more striped bass derbies than stripers! At any rate, the big Martha's Vineyard contest is now underway, running until Oct. 15; the Canal Sportsman's Club Derby will wind up Oct. 1st; while the Cape Ann Sportsman's Club Tournament ended yesterday, the winners to be announced later in the week. Various and sundry finny frays have also been conducted this summer—so many, in fact, that we've lost count of 'em!

Charley Sherer, the skiing surf caster, who operates the Buzzards Bay Red Top Bait shop with Bill Chase, Jr., passes along the good word that the fishing has speeded up a bit in the Canal . . . "It's nothing to get excited about," he grinned, "but at least someone is taking fish" . . . Catches have been averaging 12 to 14 pounds, and the bass are hitting plugs or eelskins.

Leader in the women's division of this area's Derby, Mrs. C. V. Gardner, of Monument Beach, who hooked a six-pound, 12-ounce specimen . . . Small, you say? Certainly but other females have caught larger fish, then failed to enter them.

There have not been any entries received in the divisions for bass taken with fly rods or bait casting rods . . . It would seem that here is a real opportunity to win a nice prize or two.

Stanley Standrowski, of Dedham, tied into a 28-pounder last week-end, thus qualifying for the weekly award.

The waters in the region are still teeming with bluefish, as well as numerous squeteague, which, we repeat, are generally known as "weakfish" . . . So if you don't bring home a striper, go after these species.

ANGLING ANGLES: Our only criticism of the Vineyard Derby is that the weighing-in of catches is limited to the hours between 8 and 10 o'clock in the mornings or evenings, at the Rod and Gun Club headquarters, Oak Bluffs. This means that anglers have to rush from several remote parts of the Island . . . We think that more places with official scales should have been set up, while it should have been made possible to weigh in a fish at any time during the day or night. As every fisherman is aware, the bass shrink after being taken from the water. The loss of a pound or two can amount to the difference between a Steelcraft cruiser or a blanket in this Derby!

Galehouse, Deal Hurl Against White Sox

After releasing their Fenway Park grip on the Chicago White Sox just long enough to permit the idle Yankees to clinch their 15th pennant, the Red Sox regained home lot mastery over Ted Lyons' forces during the second half of yesterday's doubleheader.

The Chisox won their first win in nine Fenway starts by taking the opener against Dave (Boo) Ferriss, 6-3, thanks to the tight pitching of Orval Grove and a Don Kolloway homer that sparked the Chisox' four-run winning rally in the seventh.

That setback eliminated the 1946 American League champions' last mathematical chance of retaining their title.

In the after-piece, also decided in the seventh when the Red Sox put on a four-run rally for Harry Dorish, three of the Bosox belted homers against the veteran Charlie (Red) Ruffing. Sam Mele hit for the circuit in the second frame and Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio each belted one-on homers in the seventh.

Dorish weakened in the eighth, when the Chisox scored four runs, and was followed on the mound by 18-year-old Chuck Stobbs, called up yesterday from the Lynn New England League farm team, and veteran Johnny Murphy.

The rival Sockers were to stage another twin bill today with Boston's Denny Galehouse and rookie Ellis Deal opposing Lefty Frank Papish and Joe Haynes.

Cobb Tries For Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 16 (AP)—John Cobb of England will make another attempt to better his own automobile speed records on this saline course late today if mechanics can complete repairs on his 7700-pound racing car.

Cobb turned the car into repair pits last night after speeding over the salt flats at 375.52 miles per hour. He said he hoped to make [illegible] new attempt at 4 p. m., Pacific Standard Time (7 p. m., EST).

Officials pointed out that if Cobb rolls over the Bonneville course late today it will be the first time a record attempt has been made in the afternoon.

Drivers, since Sir Malcolm Campbell first used the salt flats for speed runs in 1935 have preferred a post-dawn time.

Speaker to Attend Duffy Lewis Fete

Austen Lake, chairman of the Duffy Lewis testimonial dinner, announced today that the famous Harry Hooper, Tris Speaker, Lewis outfield will be reunited at the testimonial next Monday night at the Hotel Statler as the result of word received from Speaker today that he would attend the banquet.

Speaker will fly to Brooklyn on Sunday, September 21, where he will attend the Braves-Dodgers game with Hooper, Bill Klem and Lewis, and all four will come over to Boston with the Braves club following the completion of the game.

Bierman Promotes Two To Minnesota Varsity

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Head Coach Bernie Bierman added two players to the University of Minnesota varsity football squad.

He put Jack Stuhlman, 205-pounder, into an end berth and Everett Faunce into the No. 1 left halfback position. At the same time, he advanced Ken Beiersdorf to the second stringers where he will hold down fullback duties.

TIME NOW FOR HAIR CONDITIONING

During the summer months we unconsciously subject our hair and scalps to a great deal of abuse. Vacations are a period of relaxation and enjoyment. The penalty for improper hair and scalp care, during that time, can result in excessive hair fall and a dry, itchy scalp laden with embarrassing dandruff.

Why pay such a penalty when we can offer you a sensible, proven method of hair and scalp hygiene? Come in today for an examination and consultation made without charge or obligation. No case is accepted unless we feel confident that we can help you.

The recommendations of the thousands of clients we have treated is the basis of our success. Come in today and learn more about hair conditioning.

Cancel 2 Stake Events On Narragansett Card

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 16—Continuing to work on a week by week schedule with his stakes program, Racing Sec. Ty Shea this morning officially canceled the two stakes originally slated for decision next Saturday, the James H. Connors Memorial and the Rhode Island Handicap. The reason for the cancellations, of course, is the absence of sufficient eligibles on the grounds to furnish a contest.

Shea, however, has succeeded in lining up a sparkling program for the day, with eight races that will attract full fields and which are sure to provide keen competition. There will be two feature events. The first is titled The Evergreen Handicap, in which 3 year olds and upward will speed six furlongs for a $7500 purse. Among the potential starters is one of the nation's outstanding handicap stars, the Brown Hotel Stable's Seven Hearts. The big chestnut has trained steadily and well since he spreadeagled a fast field at Suffolk Downs on August 1st, and he is undoubtedly the best all round performer in these New England States at the moment. Mrs. B. F. Lister's Eternity, away from the races for quite a while, is training steadily and may return to competition in the Evergreen.

The co-feature is titled the Middletown Purse, an allowance affair to be contested by 3-year-olds and upward over one mile and a sixteenth, purse $7500. Secretary Shea's lists show more than 50 head on the grounds as possible contenders and the race promises a thriller.

Rounding off Saturday's big card will be one allowance race, for 3-year-olds to race one mile and a sixteenth for a $3000 purse, and five claiming events:—one for 2-year-olds, the others for 3-year-olds and upward. Three of these are six furlongs sprints, two over a distance of ground, for purses ranging from $2500 through to $3000 and $3500.

Horsemen Rally to Aid Smith in Fever Fight

By DAVE WILSON

SALEM, N. H.—Lou Smith of Rockingham Park, who only a few days ago was fighting alone to warn the turf world of the dangers of swamp fever today finds an army fighting behind him.

Robert F. Carey, executive director of the Hawthorne track in Chicago, has forwarded a check for $11,253.43 to Smith, head of the fund-raising committee for the Horesmen's Protective and Benevolent Ass'n.

Tom Cromwell, editor of the Lexington Herald, has forwarded $1000, despite the fact that his Aunt Bella, winner of her last two races, was a victim of the dread scourge.

Pres. Charles Derose of the tri-county fair in Northampton, Mass., has donated $500 to the fund. The New Hampshire Jockey Club itself raised $5718.07 last Saturday.

Meanwhile, Smith, who went over the heads of the executive committee of the thoroughbred racing associations and made telegraphic appeals to the individual members, is receiving assurances of support from all parts of the country.

Herbert Bayard Swope, two-time Pulitzer prize winner and the first man of racing in the United States, has stated flatly that the T. R. A. "would go a long way toward justifying itself by taking the leadership in this matter" and he urged them to impose an assessment on all member tracks.

John S. Letellier, president of the Fair Grounds in New Orleans, and Henry L. Strauss, president of Tropical Park, and president o fthe American Totalisator Co., also expressed this view which Smith had suggested in his wires.

A fund of at least $150,000 is the minimum requirement, and it seems certain that the horsemen will receive that much, which makes it quite a triumph for Lou Smith.

Washburn Rejoins Dartmouth Grid Squad

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 16 (INS)—Dartmouth welcomed today big Wilcomb Washburn, regular tackle in 1944, back to the squad. He returned to the Indians after traveling from Japan since practice opened.

Coach Tuss McLaughry was far from satisfied with the execution of plays as the final two weeks of preseason practice started. Two sessions of noncombat drills were on the schedule for this week.

Ted Retains Batting Lead In A. L. Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—While Harry Walker, the Philadelphia's fleet flychaser continued to make a joke of the National League's championship's batting race, the American League battle showed signs of becoming close.

Walker, who had a 30 plus point bulge a week ago, rapped out 14 hits in 31 times at bat during the games through Sunday, upped his percentage to .362, 46 points ahead of his nearest rival.

Ted Wiliams of the Red Sox, dropped two points to .335 but held onto the American League lead by 12 points. Taft Wright of the White Sox was second with .323, followed by Barney McCosky of Philadelphia with .322 and Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees with .321. Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox was fifth with .319.

Dale Mitchell of Cleveland, runner-up a week ago, dropped to sixth with .318; George Kell, Detroit, was seventh with .317; Lou Boudreau, Cleveland, eighth, .315; Luke Appling, Chicago, ninth, .307; and George McQuinn, New York, tenth, .304.

Cleveland Sends 4 To Garden Show

Ollie Downs, veteran Cleveland boxing coach, will bring a team of four Cleveland boxers to Boston for the Hawaiian-American amateur boxing show at the Garden September 24. Downs has produced championship amateur boxing teams in Cleveland for many years.

Heading the list of the Cleveland invaders will be Willie Champion, 210-pound thumper who scored such a resounding impression in the recent National AAU bouts. Since that time, Willie won the National Golden Gloves heavyweight title.

A newcomer to these parts from Cleveland is welterweight George Kolarik. George, a comparative youngster, made one of his greatest showings a short while ago in Cleveland when he was nipped in a split decision by Georgie Keough, the National AAU champ.

Lightweight Willie Stephenson, runner-up in the National Golden Gloves, and Art Wells, Ohio State featherweight crown wearer, round out the Cleveland team.

In all there will be 32 fighters in the amateur boxing show. Eight will arrive from Hawaii on Friday. Four will come from Cleveland. Four more will come from Pittsburgh. Then there will be the Boston team of 16 top battlers.

Myers' .724 Average Rates With BC's Best

By LEO MONAHAN

Boston College's gridiron mentor, Denny Myers, was about as versatile a college player as one could hope to find. The affable Iowan was captain and fullback on his freshman eleven at the University of Iowa. As a sophomore, he played wingback and quarterback, and performed as an end, tackle and wingback as a junior. Rounding out his collegiate career, the Eagle coach was quarterback and guard.

Born in Algina, Iowa, in 1905, Myers also had a busy high school career, captaining the football, basketball and wrestling teams.

Upon graduation from college, he played professional ball with the Detroit Lions, Chicago Bears and Brooklyn Dodgers. He operated as a guard for the Bears and played fullback and guard for Brooklyn.

He began his coaching career as a line mentor at West Virginia in 1932; moved to Yale as an aide to head coach Ducky Pond in 1934. He then shifted to Brown and served as line coach under Tuss McLaughry until 1941 when he was appointed to succeed Frank Leahy at the Heights.

It was Myers who installed the high scoring T-formation at the Heights. He has never failed to produce a team which features high scoring and unusual spectator interest. One fact which may have gone unnoticed is that no B. C. team has gone scoreless since he took over the coaching reins.

Lately, many B. C. fans have been "down" on Denny. It may be remembered that many called for Frank Leahy's scalp after his 7-6 defeat at the hands of Florida in the opener of the '39 season.

Actually, Myers has compiled one of the best records of any football coach at Boston College. During his six-year tenure, three of them spent compiling a creditable war record in the Navy, his record stands 21 wins and eight losses for a .724 average.

Only two records are more outstanding in the past 28 seasons. Frank Leahy, in his two years at the Heights, produced 20 victories in 22 engagements for a sensational .909 mark, while the Iron Major, Frank Cavanaugh, back in the early '20's, had 47 wins, 15 defeats and five stalemates, a .770 average.

In comparison to the calibre of of competition, no other B. C. mentor, with the exception of Leahy, can boast a more successful mark. The venerable Gil Dobie had a three-year tenure, which resulted in 16 victories, six losses and five ties for a .727 average. But Dobie always played for the tie, as did Joe McKenney and Frank Cavanaugh. McKenny's record was 44-17-3 for a .721 figure, while Harry Downs and D. Leo Dailey compiled 10 wins and seven losses together, an unimpressive .588 average.

Myers also has been at University Heights longer than the average coach. Counting his service time, he has been there for six years. The average coaching term at B. C. is four seasons.

Cavanaugh's eight years is tops while Joe McKenny, with seven years, is a close second. Harry Downs and D. Leo Dailey hardly had a chance to hang up their hats with a season apiece while Leahy had two years and "Gloomy Gil" had three.

Myers, with a predominance of promising sophomores, has the makings of a great B. C. eleven if he's given an opportunity to bring them along.

COULDN'T FIND HOUSE, SO QUIT SCHOOL

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 (AP)—Tommy Phillips, passing ace of the Ohio State football team, quit school because he was unable to find living quarters for himself and his wife and announced he would enter Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, O.

Coach Wes Fesler said Phillips had no complaints over his progress on the football team, but was generally dissatisfied with life at the university including failure to find a home.

Phillips, a great passer but a so-so ball carrier, played halfback and quarterback on the varsity last fall.

Because of the transfer rule, he will not be eligible at B-W this season, but will be available in 1948 and 1949.

'Buff' Leads B. U. Big Time Bid

By BILL GRIMES

Thirteen years ago, when Leroy B. "Pat" Hanley signed to become head coach, Boston University had every reason to believe that, at long last, the stage was set for the "Intowners" to go "Big Time" in football.

But, the Terriers missed the boat.

Hanley was under the impression before he met the "powers that be" that he would be offered a worthwhile contract. Instead, the offer was $2800 and naturally "Pat" blew his top. But, while he was packing his bags to go over to New York, where he was supervising some football shorts for the movies, a group of B.U. alumni headed by "Brick" O'Hare barged into his room. After a lengthy and, at times, heated debate, Hanley agreed to accept a boost offered by the alumni.

For eight years, "Pat" Hanley hung on as the Terriers' head coach. And, under Hanley, Boston University made some headway on the gridiron. But, the relationship between the "Big Wigs" and Hanley never was harmonious and that friction was responsible for the failure of the Terriers to go places.

Now, Boston University is making another start to go places nationally on the gridiron.

Aldo "Buff" Donelli is the new B. U. head coach. He's well qualified for the job. He undertook a similar assignment in 1939 at Duquesne and established an enviable record of 29 wins, two ties and four defeats in four seasons.

Under Head Coach "Buff" Donelli, the Terriers will bear watching. He's introducing the "Winged-T" formation. It is one of his own brain children. He had his first look at the B. U. squad last spring.

During the six weeks of spring practise, Coach Donelli catalogued each and every member of the varsity squad. Realizing that it requires time for players to master a new offense, "Buff" has been very patient with his charges. He's a strict disciplinarian but is not the Simon Legree type.

Since he has been connected with B. U. "Buff" Donelli has made a fine impression with his players and also the faculty. He has convinced everyone that he's a straight shooter. He isn't trying to cut corners in order to get the Terriers off to a flying start. He has absolutely refused to accept transfers from other colleges. He turned thumbs down on six players, who wanted to quit Syracuse and enroll at B. U. And, he also gave the "brush off" to a Boston College Eagle, who expressed a desire to move intown.

Just before the start of the second semester last February, Coach Donelli was informed by the faculty that two applicants of better than average gridiron ability had flunked their entrance examinations. Naturally, "Buff" was dissapointed but he refused to intercede.

"If they couldn't pass the entrance requirements" declared Donelli, "The chances are that just about the time I got them primed to be turned loose in some major game, they'd go on probation, which would ruin the morale of the team."

"Buff" Donelli isn't making any predictions, about the 1947 Terriers. At present, he has 46 players on his varsity squad. For three weeks, he has held two daily sessions but starting on Thursday, when college opens, football practise will be from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The Terriers are building for the future. Capt. Don Giles is the only senior on the squad. B. U. is scheduled to meet eight opponents, including Harvard, N. Y. U., Purdue, Fordham and Colgate. They expect to win at least half of their games. And, it is doubtful if any team will make them look too bad. On the other hand, Donelli's "Winged-T," which is not only colorful and crowd pleasing but explosive and tough to stop, when it clicks.

It would be unfair to Coach Donelli and, also, his varsity to expect too much of the Terriers for a couple of years. The enrollment at B. U. may top the 30,000 mark this year and with a "name" coach like "Buff" Donelli in charge of football, prep school stars from all over the country will come East to play under the man, who snapped Duquesne out of the football doldrums and who holds the distinction of being the only football mentor to coach a college eleven (Duquesne) and a National Football League club (Pittsburgh) through the same season.

CAPT. DON GILES
Terriers' Best Running Back

McIntyre, Lucas Boost NU Power

The return of Bob McIntyre and George Lucas to the backfield and Stan Young to the tackle squad added extra power to the Northeastern football squad.

McIntyre is slated to split the right half-back position with Sid Von Euw. "Mac" has missed practice for the better part of a week because of an infected tooth.

Coach Johnny Grinnell sees George Keith of Brookline as his most likely starter on one of the flanks, but claims that Don Kerrivan of Wellesley has come fast in recent practice sessions and might win the other end position.

Cancel 2 Stake Events On Narragansett Card

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 16—Continuing to work on a week by week schedule with his stakes program, Racing Sec. Ty Shea this morning officially canceled the two stakes originally slated for decision next Saturday, the James H. Connors Memorial and the Rhode Island Handicap. The reason for the cancellations, of course, is the absence of sufficient eligibles on the grounds to furnish a contest.

Shea, however, has succeeded in lining up a sparkling program for the day, with eight races that will attract full fields and which are sure to provide keen competition. There will be two feature events. The first is titled The Evergreen Handicap, in which 3 year olds and upward will speed six furlongs for a $7500 purse. Among the potential starters is one of the nation's outstanding handicap stars, the Brown Hotel Stable's Seven Hearts. The big chestnut has trained steadily and well since he spreadeagled a fast field at Suffolk Downs on August 1st, and he is undoubtedly the best all round performer in these New England States at the moment. Mrs. B. F. Lister's Eternity, away from the races for quite a while, is training steadily and may return to competition in the Evergreen.

The co-feature is titled the Middletown Purse, an allowance affair to be contested by 3-year-olds and upward over one mile and a sixteenth, purse $7500. Secretary Shea's lists show more than 50 head on the grounds as possible contenders and the race promises a thriller.

Rounding off Saturday's big card will be one allowance race, for 3-year-olds to race one mile and a sixteenth for a $3000 purse, and five claiming events:—one for 2-year-olds, the others for 3-year-olds and upward. Three of these are six furlongs sprints, two over a distance of ground, for purses ranging from $2500 through to $3000 and $3500.

Ted Retains Batting Lead In A. L. Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—While Harry Walker, the Philadelphia's fleet flychaser continued to make a joke of the National League's championship's batting race, the American League battle showed signs of becoming close.

Walker, who had a 30 plus point bulge a week ago, rapped out 14 hits in 31 times at bat during the games through Sunday, upped his percentage to .362, 46 points ahead of his nearest rival.

Ted Wiliams of the Red Sox, dropped two points to .335 but held onto the American League lead by 12 points. Taft Wright of the White Sox was second with .323, followed by Barney McCosky of Philadelphia with .322 and Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees with .321. Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox was fifth with .319.

Dale Mitchell of Cleveland, runner-up a week ago, dropped to sixth with .318; George Kell, Detroit, was seventh with .317; Lou Boudreau, Cleveland, eighth, .315; Luke Appling, Chicago, ninth, .307; and George McQuinn, New York, tenth, .304.

Horsemen Rally to Aid Smith in Fever Fight

By DAVE WILSON

SALEM, N. H.—Lou Smith of Rockingham Park, who only a few days ago was fighting alone to warn the turf world of the dangers of swamp fever today finds an army fighting behind him.

Robert F. Carey, executive director of the Hawthorne track in Chicago, has forwarded a check for $11,253.43 to Smith, head of the fund-raising committee for the Horesmen's Protective and Benevolent Ass'n.

Tom Cromwell, editor of the Lexington Herald, has forwarded $1000, despite the fact that his Aunt Bella, winner of her last two races, was a victim of the dread scourge.

Pres. Charles Derose of the tri-county fair in Northampton, Mass., has donated $500 to the fund. The New Hampshire Jockey Club itself raised $5718.07 last Saturday.

Meanwhile, Smith, who went over the heads of the executive committee of the thoroughbred racing associations and made telegraphic appeals to the individual members, is receiving assurances of support from all parts of the country.

Herbert Bayard Swope, two-time Pulitzer prize winner and the first man of racing in the United States, has stated flatly that the T. R. A. "would go a long way toward justifying itself by taking the leadership in this matter" and he urged them to impose an assessment on all member tracks.

John S. Letellier, president of the Fair Grounds in New Orleans, and Henry L. Strauss, president of Tropical Park, and president o fthe American Totalisator Co., also expressed this view which Smith had suggested in his wires.

A fund of at least $150,000 is the minimum requirement, and it seems certain that the horsemen will receive that much, which makes it quite a triumph for Lou Smith.

Washburn Rejoins Dartmouth Grid Squad

HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 16 (INS)—Dartmouth welcomed today big Wilcomb Washburn, regular tackle in 1944, back to the squad. He returned to the Indians after traveling from Japan since practice opened.

Coach Tuss McLaughry was far from satisfied with the execution of plays as the final two weeks of preseason practice started. Two sessions of noncombat drills were on the schedule for this week.

Myers' .724 Average Rates With BC's Best

By LEO MONAHAN

Boston College's gridiron mentor, Denny Myers, was about as versatile a college player as one could hope to find. The affable Iowan was captain and fullback on his freshman eleven at the University of Iowa. As a sophomore, he played wingback and quarterback, and performed as an end, tackle and wingback as a junior. Rounding out his collegiate career, the Eagle coach was quarterback and guard.

Born in Algina, Iowa, in 1905, Myers also had a busy high school career, captaining the football, basketball and wrestling teams.

Upon graduation from college, he played professional ball with the Detroit Lions, Chicago Bears and Brooklyn Dodgers. He operated as a guard for the Bears and played fullback and guard for Brooklyn.

He began his coaching career as a line mentor at West Virginia in 1932; moved to Yale as an aide to head coach Ducky Pond in 1934. He then shifted to Brown and served as line coach under Tuss McLaughry until 1941 when he was appointed to succeed Frank Leahy at the Heights.

It was Myers who installed the high scoring T-formation at the Heights. He has never failed to produce a team which features high scoring and unusual spectator interest. One fact which may have gone unnoticed is that no B. C. team has gone scoreless since he took over the coaching reins.

Lately, many B. C. fans have been "down" on Denny. It may be remembered that many called for Frank Leahy's scalp after his 7-6 defeat at the hands of Florida in the opener of the '39 season.

Actually, Myers has compiled one of the best records of any football coach at Boston College. During his six-year tenure, three of them spent compiling a creditable war record in the Navy, his record stands 21 wins and eight losses for a .724 average.

Only two records are more outstanding in the past 28 seasons. Frank Leahy, in his two years at the Heights, produced 20 victories in 22 engagements for a sensational .909 mark, while the Iron Major, Frank Cavanaugh, back in the early '20's, had 47 wins, 15 defeats and five stalemates, a .770 average.

In comparison to the calibre of of competition, no other B. C. mentor, with the exception of Leahy, can boast a more successful mark. The venerable Gil Dobie had a three-year tenure, which resulted in 16 victories, six losses and five ties for a .727 average. But Dobie always played for the tie, as did Joe McKenney and Frank Cavanaugh. McKenny's record was 44-17-3 for a .721 figure, while Harry Downs and D. Leo Dailey compiled 10 wins and seven losses together, an unimpressive .588 average.

Myers also has been at University Heights longer than the average coach. Counting his service time, he has been there for six years. The average coaching term at B. C. is four seasons.

Cavanaugh's eight years is tops while Joe McKenny, with seven years, is a close second. Harry Downs and D. Leo Dailey hardly had a chance to hang up their hats with a season apiece while Leahy had two years and "Gloomy Gil" had three.

Myers, with a predominance of promising sophomores, has the makings of a great B. C. eleven if he's given an opportunity to bring them along.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Major league club owners approved sweeping baseball reforms and set up a player-owner policy committee.

THREE YEARS AGO—Detroit beat Cleveland twice to take the lead in the three-way American League race as New York dropped two to Philadelphia and St. Louis split with Chicago.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Jimmie Bivins, 177¼, outpointed Tami Mauriello, 180½, in ten rounds at Cleveland.

TEN YEARS AGO—A record Washington crowd of 24,940 saw Sammy Baugh lead the Washington Redskins to a 13-3 victory over the New York Giants in the season's first pro football game.

U. of Mass. Coach Calls For Defensive Work

AMHERST, Sept. 16 (INS)—Coach Tommy Eck of the University of Massachusetts, scheduled more defensive play today for his squad. He said the team still has many rough spots that need to be polished.

Five Greater Boston boys, Dave Traver, end, Wellesley Hills; Jim Fulton, guard, Belmont; Fred Gardner, center, Wellesley Hills; Dick Mulroy, Jr., Marblehead, and John Middleton, Jr., both backs, look like fixtures on the team.

'Buff' Leads B. U. Big Time Bid

By BILL GRIMES

Thirteen years ago, when Leroy B. "Pat" Hanley signed to become head coach, Boston University had every reason to believe that, at long last, the stage was set for the "Intowners" to go "Big Time" in football.

But, the Terriers missed the boat.

Hanley was under the impression before he met the "powers that be" that he would be offered a worthwhile contract. Instead, the offer was $2800 and naturally "Pat" blew his top. But, while he was packing his bags to go over to New York, where he was supervising some football shorts for the movies, a group of B.U. alumni headed by "Brick" O'Hare barged into his room. After a lengthy and, at times, heated debate, Hanley agreed to accept a boost offered by the alumni.

For eight years, "Pat" Hanley hung on as the Terriers' head coach. And, under Hanley, Boston University made some headway on the gridiron. But, the relationship between the "Big Wigs" and Hanley never was harmonious and that friction was responsible for the failure of the Terriers to go places.

Now, Boston University is making another start to go places nationally on the gridiron.

Aldo "Buff" Donelli is the new B. U. head coach. He's well qualified for the job. He undertook a similar assignment in 1939 at Duquesne and established an enviable record of 29 wins, two ties and four defeats in four seasons.

Under Head Coach "Buff" Donelli, the Terriers will bear watching. He's introducing the "Winged-T" formation. It is one of his own brain children. He had his first look at the B. U. squad last spring.

During the six weeks of spring practise, Coach Donelli catalogued each and every member of the varsity squad. Realizing that it requires time for players to master a new offense, "Buff" has been very patient with his charges. He's a strict disciplinarian but is not the Simon Legree type.

Since he has been connected with B. U. "Buff" Donelli has made a fine impression with his players and also the faculty. He has convinced everyone that he's a straight shooter. He isn't trying to cut corners in order to get the Terriers off to a flying start. He has absolutely refused to accept transfers from other colleges. He turned thumbs down on six players, who wanted to quit Syracuse and enroll at B. U. And, he also gave the "brush off" to a Boston College Eagle, who expressed a desire to move intown.

Just before the start of the second semester last February, Coach Donelli was informed by the faculty that two applicants of better than average gridiron ability had flunked their entrance examinations. Naturally, "Buff" was dissapointed but he refused to intercede.

"If they couldn't pass the entrance requirements" declared Donelli, "The chances are that just about the time I got them primed to be turned loose in some major game, they'd go on probation, which would ruin the morale of the team."

"Buff" Donelli isn't making any predictions, about the 1947 Terriers. At present, he has 46 players on his varsity squad. For three weeks, he has held two daily sessions but starting on Thursday, when college opens, football practise will be from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The Terriers are building for the future. Capt. Don Giles is the only senior on the squad. B. U. is scheduled to meet eight opponents, including Harvard, N. Y. U., Purdue, Fordham and Colgate. They expect to win at least half of their games. And, it is doubtful if any team will make them look too bad. On the other hand, Donelli's "Winged-T," which is not only colorful and crowd pleasing but explosive and tough to stop, when it clicks.

It would be unfair to Coach Donelli and, also, his varsity to expect too much of the Terriers for a couple of years. The enrollment at B. U. may top the 30,000 mark this year and with a "name" coach like "Buff" Donelli in charge of football, prep school stars from all over the country will come East to play under the man, who snapped Duquesne out of the football doldrums and who holds the distinction of being the only football mentor to coach a college eleven (Duquesne) and a National Football League club (Pittsburgh) through the same season.

McIntyre, Lucas Boost NU Power

The return of Bob McIntyre and George Lucas to the backfield and Stan Young to the tackle squad added extra power to the Northeastern football squad.

McIntyre is slated to split the right half-back position with Sid Von Euw. "Mac" has missed practice for the better part of a week because of an infected tooth.

Coach Johnny Grinnell sees George Keith of Brookline as his most likely starter on one of the flanks, but claims that Don Kerrivan of Wellesley has come fast in recent practice sessions and might win the other end position.

COULDN'T FIND HOUSE, SO QUIT SCHOOL

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16 (AP)—Tommy Phillips, passing ace of the Ohio State football team, quit school because he was unable to find living quarters for himself and his wife and announced he would enter Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, O.

Coach Wes Fesler said Phillips had no complaints over his progress on the football team, but was generally disatisfied with life at the university including failure to find a home.

Phillips, a great passer but a so-so ball carrier, played halfback and quarterback on the varsity last fall.

Because of the transfer rule, he will not be eligible at B-W this season, but will be available in 1948 and 1949.

Tuna Jackpot—Close on the the heels of Canada's great sports fishing tournament, held at Wedgeport, N. S.; these commercial fishermen take record catch of tuna off Hubbards, N. S., The giant fish are drawn into huge nets and encircled by small boats. The battle for the tuna rages for hours before they are boated. Only 100 men have taken this hazardous work as a lifetime profession. Tunas weighing 800 pounds are not unusual. See right . . .

Big 'Un

Veteran Nova Scotia fisherman Lawson Miller, of Hubbards, stands beside an 800-pound tuna, one of several he caught during a commercial fishing trip. A seven-man crew is necessary to bring the monster fish to boat. Nets are used to trap the tuna rather than rod and reel which are only used for sports fishing.
